U.S. WOUNDED — Among the huge toll of dead and wounded American soldiers last week, worst week of the Indochina War this year, were these wounded, stretcher-borne GIs who waited beneath the tail section of a giant transport aircraft for an ambulance to rush them to a medical facility at Khe Sanh after they were hurt near the Laotian border. Fifty-nine fellow soldiers were killed.

World Peace Risk In Mideast: Nixon

New U.S. Role In International Flux

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon said today the greatest danger of nuclear conflict lies in the Middle East where Soviet attempts to dominate the area "must and will be resisted."

He appealed for a peaceful settlement of the differences there and in Vietnam, which he termed the "most immediate and anguishing problem" facing the United States.

Nixon outlined his views in a book-length State of the World message to Congress reviewing the entire spectrum of U. S. foreign relations, and amplified them in a 30-minute radio address to the nation.

The address, carried live from the Oval office in the White House, renewed the appeal Nixon first made last October for an immediate cease-fire throughout Indochina, withdrawal of all foreign troops, release of all prisoners of war and an Indochina peace conference to achieve a "fair political settlement" for both sides.

This plan, he said, has the support of "every government in Indochina but one—North Vietnam."

Even without a negotiated peace, he said a South Vietnamese nation strengthened with American help now has "an excellent opportunity not only to survive but to build a strong, free society."

The President spoke at length in his radio address—his second one since assuming office—about the Nixon doctrine for reducing America's foreign involvements and encouraging allies to add their "moral and intellectual strength to the creation of world order."

"Peace for the next generation depends on our ability to make certain that each nation has a share in its shaping and that every nation has a stake in its lasting," he said.

"This is the hard way, requiring patience, restraint, understanding and—when necessary—bold decisive action."

Despite the costly and frustrating Southeast Asian war, it is Russia's moves as an ambitious global power seeking to achieve exclusive influence at America's expense that poses the chief threat of global conflict, Nixon said.

He pointed to the Jordanian crisis last September—with its implications of a direct confrontation between Russia and the United States—as the "greatest threat to world peace" since he assumed office.

He put the Soviet Union on notice that despite America's unhappy involvement in Southeast Asia, the United States was not relinquishing its role of world leadership.

"There should be no misconceptions of the role we will play in international affairs," the President said. "This country is not withdrawing into isolation.

"With the Soviet Union we want a relationship in which the interests of both are respected ... but, when challenged, the United States will defend its interests and those of its allies."

The President also promised to examine the possibilities of more contacts between the United States and mainland China, and referred to that country seven times as "Peoples Republic of China" — The first U.S. President ever to do so in an official document.

Nixon claimed the United States was embarked on a "consistent and unmistakable" policy in Vietnam that will reduce American involvement

HIGHLIGHTS OF NIXON'S MESSAGE

U.S. Role in World Affairs

Events in every part of the globe —Communist, free and uncommitted —are in a state of transition. The United States cannot withdraw into isolation. Instead, under the Nixon Doctrine, the United States must offer a new, more subtle form of leadership, allowing other nations to help formulate policies and to devise their own approaches.

The War

The South Vietnamese have made great progress in assuming the burdens of war but we have made little progress toward a negotiated peace because of lack of Communist cooperation. Despite heavy losses, the North Vietnamese have the manpower, the logistical network and the dedication to continue fighting if they wish. The Vietnamization program made very encouraging advances in 1970. But Nixon commented: "The substantial record of achievement in the first two years of this administration cannot obscure one fundamental fact —the fighting continues. If winding down the war is my greatest satisfaction in foreign policy, the failure to end it is my deepest disappointment."

Laos and Cambodia

Hanoi has intensified the war on these fronts and its focus is likely to remain there in the coming months. Nixon will continue to do what is necessary to protect American men as they leave Vietnam and will keep the American people informed.

The Middle East

Although Vietnam is the nation's most anguishing problem, it is not the most dangerous. "That grim distinction must go to the situation in the Middle East with its vastly greater potential for drawing Soviet policy and our own into a collision that could prove uncontrollable." The administration has undertaken a strenuous effort to restore peace in the area and will continue to do so. But to the Kremlin, he addressed these words: "Any effort by any major power to secure a dominant position could exacerbate local disputes, affect Europe's security, and increase the danger to world peace. We seek no such position; we cannot allow others to establish one."

The Soviet Union

An assessment of relationships with the Soviet Union must be mixed although there are broad Missile Threat To U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has surpassed the United States in some categories of strategic nuclear weapons and may be preparing for a "first strike" capability, President Nixon said today.

He said the Soviet Union overhauled the United States in 1969 in the number of intercontinental ballistic missiles and is rapidly gaining in numbers of submarine launched ballistic missiles.

"By any standard, we believe the number of Soviet strategic forces now exceeds the level needed for deterrence," Nixon said in the "State of the World" message.

"Even more important than the growth in numbers has been the change in the nature of the forces the USSR chose to develop and deploy. These forces include systems — particularly the SS9 ICBM with large multiple warheads — which, if further improved and deployed in sufficient numbers, could be uniquely suitable for a first strike against our land-based deterrent forces."

In 1965, the United States had 934 ICBMs and 464 submarine-launched ballistic missiles compared with 224 and 107 for the Soviet Union. Nixon said by the end of 1969, the Soviet Union had 1,109 ICBMs to 1,054 for the United States and in 1970 added 331 more while the United States maintained the same level.

Last year the United States had 656 submarine-launched ballistic missiles —the same as in 1969 —while the Soviet Union had 350, an increase of 110 over 1969, the President said.

Nixon said, "By the mid 1970s we expect the Soviets to have a force of ballistic missile submarines equal in size to our own. Furthermore, the Soviet Union has continued to make significant qualitative improvements in its strategic forces. These include new and improved versions of their Minuteman size SS11 missile, continued testing of multiple warheads, research and testing of ABM components, and improved air defense systems."

He said Mainland China by the late 1970s probably will have ICBMS "capable of reaching the U.S."

Nixon cautioned that there has been some slowing in Soviets development of land-based missile launchers. But he said "the signifiance of this development is not clear."

Defiant Tanks Grab Base

SAIGON (UPI) —Communist troops moving behind a shield of tanks overran the South Vietnamese paratroop base at Hill 31 inside Laos today and overwhelmed the 200-man defense force, front dispatches reported. It was the second such base to be captured by the Communists.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu was quoted by the official Vietnam Press agency today as saying it is "But a matter of time" before government forces push into North Vietnam. His speech, made Wednesday in Pleiku to a "People's Convention," was released tonight.

UPI Correspondent Kenneth J. Braddick reported tonight from Khe Sanh on the South Vietnamese side of the border that the Communists also had launched a ground assault against a South Vietnamese base at Hill 30, four miles away from Hill 31 and also in Laos, but that outcome of the battle was not yet known.

The Communist attacks against individual South Vietnamese bases appeared to be a strategy of picking them off one at a time. The South Vietnamese established the bases to cut across Highway 9 and other branches of the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos.

Braddick said U.S. artillery just inside the South Vietnamese border opened a 155 mm howitzer attack on Hill 31 tonight. Previously, U.S. pilots said they had "blown away" the Communist occupied Hill 31 position in air strikes before fog closed in tonight.

Communist losses at Hill 31 were not known, but front dispatches and Saigon reports said "hundreds" of Communists were killed in attacks on nearby bases. At least three other South Vietnamese bases in Laos were reported under mortar and rocket fire.

The North Vietnamese attackers in Laos shot down a U.S. F4 Phantom helping defend Hill 31, 15 miles inside Laos. U.S. planes in the same operation accidentally killed nine of the defenders and wounded 31.

Communist troops last Saturday overran Landing Zone Ranger, killing 100 rangers and wounding 145. Another 78 were missing in the jungled area that controls the Ho Chi Minh supply routes from North Vietnam to South Vietnam and Cambodia.

UPI correspondent Joseph W. Galloway reported from nearby Fire Base Delta inside Laos that 159 North Vietnamese were killed there. Another 109 were reported alsin 12 miles southwest of Lao Bao on French colonial Route 9— axis of the South Vietnamese incursion into Laos.

The Laos operation sent U.S. casualties soaring during the past week. The command announced 59 Americans were killed in combat and that noncombat deaths jumped to 42—the highest toll in many months and reflecting the heavy loss of U.S. helicopters in the campaign. Noncombat deaths include men lost in helicopters from "noncombat" causes.

An officially revised list said the United States had lost 29 helicopters in Laos and adjoining South Vietnam with 39 Americans killed, 32 wounded and 25 missing. Dispatches from correspondents in the field said more than double that figure had been put out of action but not listed as "destroyed."

Pilots today reported extremely heavy 37 millimeter antiaircraft fire in the Hill 31 area, indicating the aerial pounding and the bombing by

Judge's Tough Antidraft Position

Prison Terms For Marinites

For Robert E. Lopez and Richard Carl Smith, the penalty for refusing induction into the Armed Forces was a harsh one yesterday.

They were sentenced to federal prison.

For fighting the draft and losing Lopez and Smith, both Marinites, suffered the most severe punishment — jail.

But their cases are not typical. Others challenge induction — like Lopez and Smith, on moral grounds — and win. Still others, if convicted, end up with probation or light sentences in local jails.

Smith's attorney, Bert Green, yesterday called the varied fate of draft violaters "Russian Roulette." And the term might well be used to describe the entire draft system.

Last year, through the new lottery system, 379 young men, out of thousands of draft age in Marin, were ordered to report for induction into the Army.

Of that number only 50 were actually inducted.

Twenty-seven, including Lopez and Smith, refused induction.

Forty-nine failed to pass physical examinations. Another 90 young men had their orders cancelled, postponed or transferred to another county.

Finally, 163 failed to show up for induction for one reason or another.

Those involved with the draft system are often frustrated with laws they must carry out, saying they create inequities throughout the entire draft process.

"Some cases are heartbreaking," San Rafael attorney Howard Morehouse, a member of the Marin County draft board, said.

He was speaking of young men who ask for deferments for good but not legal reasons, but his statement might as well be applied to the whole draft system.

First of all, of course, the young men who get low draft

A Crackdown On Violators

By MARY LEYDECKER

SAN FRANCISCO — A new federal district court judge, who has embarked on a "get tough" policy with draft violators, yesterday sentenced two Fairfax men to federal prison for two-year terms.

Sentenced were Robert E. Lopez, 23, and Richard Carl Smith, 24, both of whom claimed moral objections to war.

Judge Samuel Conti, appointed a federal judge in December, was unswayed by defense arguments that refusing induction is "a crime of conscience" in which there is "no visible victim."

Instead, the judge, referring to Lopez who was sentenced first, said " because he didn't go (into the Army), someone else had to go. That other person today may be dead or maimed."

Judge Conti also refused to allow Lopez and Smith — as well as two other Bay Area men who received similar sentences — to remain free on bail while their cases are appealed. The four were found guilty of refusing induction after a trial earlier this month.

Conti remanded the four into the custody of U.S. marshals and the young men were led from the courtroom to begin their sentences. Their attorneys said later they hoped to get a higher court to order their clients released on bail.

Judge Conti said, however, that he considered appeals of the cases "frivolous" and "only for the purpose of delay."

He chose the two-year terms for the sentences, he said, because that is the period draftees must serve.

The judge appeared annoyed when Smith's attorney, Bert Green, appealed for probation for his client while noting the court appearance came on Ash Wednesday.

Youth Dies Despite Antidrug Clinic Help

An unidentified youth died of an apparent drug overdose early today, after staff members of the Center Point antidrug agency worked nearly five hours to save him, according to San Rafael police.

Rex Hutchinson, director of the Center Point at 805 D Street, said that if medical emergency help had been available to the center, the youth's life might have been saved.

The victim was brought by auto to Center Point between 1 a.m. and 2 a.m. by an unidentified girl who said her friend was suffering from an overdose of heroin. "She didn't want him taken to a hospital," Hutchinson explained. He said staff members used techniques that had revived previous overdose victims, but they failed after a five-hour struggle.

Capt. Thomas L. Stephenson of the San Rafael police reported that Robert H. Marshal, 20, assistant director at Center Point and Anthony Cruz, a live-in patient, revived the victim once with artificial respiration, but were unable to save him when he stopped breathing a second time.

The center's staff called police and the ambulance at 6:20 a.m.; the victim was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. The body was taken to Harry M. Williams mortuary in San Rafael for autopsy and identification procedures.

Stephenson described the dead man as between 20 and 22 years of age, with long, blond hair in a ponytail. He was about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighed between 165 and 170

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Reggio Illness

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (UPI)—Health officials today investigated reports of an outbreak of viral hepatitis in two rebellious reggio suburbs, torn by eight months of riots and virtually sealed off from the world by barricades of burned out cars.

Mayor Piero Battaglia ordered the investigation Wednesday following persistent reports that cases of the infectious disease had developed in Sbarre and Santa Caterina, two slum neighborhoods.

Municipal doctors were not immediately allowed to cross into the self-proclaimed "Republic of Sbarre," where barricades went up again after police removed them in a big raid Tuesday.

Scandal Figure To Run Again

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Mayor Frank Curran, acquitted last month on bribery and conspiracy charges, will seek a third term.

Curran, 57, was one of eight public officials accused by the county grand jury of taking bribes in return for a favorable vote on a 1967 taxi cab rate increase.

He said Wednesday he would run for election in the Sept. 21 primary. Curran was president of the National League of Cities last year.

Javits' Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., planned to introduce a bill today that would double the amount of federal tax receipts President Nixon wants to share with the states.

The President has asked Congress for permission to divide up $5 billion among the 50 states to use as they please. He wants to do it by Oct. 1.

In a statement to accompany his bill, Javits said:

"The $10 billion figure (in Javits' bill) represents the best estimate of what it would take to satisfy somewhat less than one-half of the additional burdens being placed on state and local governments this year."

Cong Warning

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong said today the U.S.-backed South Vietnamese incursion into Laos was turning out to be a military setback for the Allies and warned of worse losses in the event of "military adventures against North Vietnam."

The deputy for Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, foreign minister of the National Liberation Front (NLF) of the Viet Cong, made the statement as he entered the 104th session of the Vietnam peace talks.

Xuan Thuy, chief North Vietnamese negotiator, said President Nixon was threatening North Vietnam with invasion and warned the U.S. policy was a direct threat to Communist China.

The Hanoi spokesman rejected the U.S. contention that North Vietnam was to blame for the extension of the Vietnam conflict to Cambodia then to Laos.

Pipelines Used

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Farmers and industries used pipelines to ship more than 250,000 tons of fertilizer to market during 1969, Texas A&M University officials report. Experts are predicting the total will have doubled in 1970.

Ship Seized

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—The Coast Guard escorted three Cuban fishing trawlers into international waters today and brought the crew of a fourth Cuban boat here for prosecution on charges of fishing in United States waters.

The 75-foot trawler Lamda was seized by the Coast Guard cutter Cape York about six miles south of Dry Tortugas Wednesday.

The three other Cuban trawlers spotted with the Lamda were escorted outside the 12-mile U. S. territorial limit early today by the Coast Guard cutter Diligence.

Jewish Furor

BRUSSELS (UPI)—The "unity and solidarity" theme of the World Conference on Soviet Jews nearly disappeared today in the furor over the barring of Rabbi Meir Kahane, a militant American Jewish leader.

The conference began its final session with delegates seeking to restore the harmony necessary for a united stand in support of 3.5 million soviet Jews. Former Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion, 82, was to deliver the closing address.

Kahane was refused permission to address the 750 delegates from 37 countries Wednesday and then was expelled from Belgium by the government on charges that he was "a risk to law and order."

Vatican Envoy

MOSCOW (UPI)—For the first time since communism came to the Kremlin, the Soviets today officially received an emissary of the Vatican.

Archbishop Agostino Casaroli, one of the church's smoothest diplomats and a man experienced in dealing with Communist regimes, arrived in Moscow late Wednesday and was greeted officially by a representative of the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

Officially, Casaroli came to deposit the Vatican's documents of ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Unofficially, the prelate will stay five days to see Soviet officials for talks that could determine the course of future relations between the atheist Kremlin and the Roman Catholic Vatican—once considered irreconcilable enemies.

July 26 Launch For Apollo 15

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Apollo 15 astronauts are scheduled to set out for the moon July 26, spend a record six days on or around it and return to Earth 12 days after launch.

The two surface explorers, David R. Scott and James B. Irwin, will stay on the moon 67 hours—twice the time logged by Apollo 14's pilots —and spend a record 20 hours each walking and driving an electric car there.

Scott, Irwin and Alfred M. Worden originally were scheduled for launch July 25 on an 11 day mission, but the space agency said Wednesday plans have been revised and are subject to more changes.

The launch now is scheduled for 9:34 a.m. EDT Monday, July 26, with the Pacific Ocean splashdown coming 12 days and 8 hours later, Aug. 7.

According to the preliminary planning, Apollo 15 will swing into lunar orbit at 4:07 p.m. EDT Thursday, July 29. Scott and Irwin tentatively are set to land at 6:14 p.m. EDT Friday, July 30, between the base of the Apennine Mountains and a gorge called Hadley Rille.

Worden will remain in lunar orbit surveying the moon with a new set of cameras and other sensors. He later will walk in space to retrieve film packs from the command ship's service.

Scott and Irwin will conduct three surface excursions.

If the July launch date is missed, the next opportunity would come Aug. 24. The launch also could be made Aug. 25.

Newsmen To Ride In Support Copters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has decided to let U.S. newsmen ride American support helicopters being used as part of the South Vietnamese operation into Laos.

Since the operation began correspondents have only been able to observe the combat zone by hitching rides on the few South Vietnamese choppers being used.

Plan To Employ Welfare Adults

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration, trying to push its stalled welfare reform program through a balky Congress, Wednesday proposed a sweeping $800 million program that would put 200,000 welfare adults to work in city and state jobs.

The administration handed major welfare changes to the House Ways and Means Committee. Committee members have wondered where the jobs would come from if welfare adults in 2.7 million families were required to go to work.

The key feature of the new program includes creation of 200,000 public service jobs in city parks, hospitals, garbage collection and other service fields. The first year cost for these jobs would be borne by the federal government.

John G. Veneman, undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare, presented the administration's public works plan along with other changes in the administration's family assistance proposal.

The public works feature of the program would cost $800 million a year, but the administration said the net cost would be $495 million since adults would be taken from welfare rolls and put on public payrolls.

The administration's overall welfare program, including payments for the first time to low-income working poor, would cost about $4.5 billion over present annual federal welfare costs of about $6 billion.

The revised administration welfare plan puts added emphasis on work, and also proposes a tough system of computerized checking of welfare rolls to make sure only eligible families are getting payments.

The administration also plans stiff criminal penalties for welfare cheaters—up to one year in prison and $1,000 fines.

Last year President Nixon vetoed a bill that would have created public service jobs for the unemployed. The administration public service proposals would apply only to adults on the welfare rolls.

The kits were mailed Wednesday by the Portland Traffic Safety Commission to each Senator and representative.

Egypt Asking U.S. To Pressure Israel

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Egypt has asked the United States to pressure Israel to withdraw from occupied territory and publicly warned Egyptian armed forces are "fully prepared" to liberate the seized lands by force if Israel refuses to pull back.

Political sources in Cairo said today Egypt's next move in the Middle East struggle would depend largely on the U.S. response.

The Egyptian appeal was in a message which Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad sent to Secretary of State William P. Rogers, the sources said. It was delivered by Riad to Donald Bergus, Washington's representative in Cairo.

The inquiry followed Egypt's positive response to the proposals put forward by U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring and what Cairo described as Israel's rejection of the Jarring proposals.

Israel issued a statement Sunday declaring its readiness to start peace talks but affirming its refusal to withdraw from all the Arab territory it captured in the June, 1967 Middle East war.

Any assurance by Washington that the United States would put pressure on Israel to withdraw would encourage Cairo in its current bid to reach a settlement.

A negative reply from Washington may convince the Egyptians of the futility of talking and could cause them to withdraw their offer of a settlement, the sources said.

Egyptian War Minister Mohamed Fawzi said Wednesday night Egypt's armed forces were "fully prepared" to liberate occupied Arab land if the Israeli s rejected the idea of a complete withdrawal.

Fawzi's warning followed reports by Cairo newspapers that Egypt has threatened to withdraw its offer of a Middle East peace unless Israel replies positively to proposals from Jarring.

17 Killed In India Rioting

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Seventeen persons died Wednesday in clashes with police in three Indian cities, press reports said today.

At Kota, an industrial city of Rajasthan state, police fired on a mob of 1,600 workers of a synthetics mill after some in the crowd snatched rifles from police and began shooting.

Seven persons died and several others were wounded in the incident, the reports said.

In the central jail of Behrampur, near Calcutta, police and jail wardens charged a rebellious group of Communist prisoners with clubs, killing seven and injuring 46, according to the Statesman newspaper.

ARE YOU IN THE MARKET FOR A HARDTOP?
Every Volvo has six steel pillars holding up the roof. Each one is strong enough to support the weight of the entire car.
Of course, this kind of strength isn't built into a Volvo just so it will hold up a lot of cars.
Volvos are built strong so they'll hold up a lot of years. Exactly how many we can't guarantee. But we do know that in Sweden Volvos are driven an average of eleven years.

Earthquake Funds To Full Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate Finance Committee has approved $11.5 million in state earthquake repair money for Southern California despite a warning the action could jeopardize federal disaster funds.

The measure by Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, was unanimously sent to the full Senate yesterday with the question of how much the federal government will chip in for quake repair unresolved.

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post told the committee a new federal law provides 100 per cent of payment for disaster-spawned damaged to public facilities, such as schools and water works.

But Post said the federal statute also prohibits the expenditure of money from any other "source" in the meantime, which he said could include the salaries of state employes making damage assessments.

He said if the state appropriated and spent the $11.4 million, it could lose federal money amounting to the same amount.

"We're just trying to get some kind of an agreement, some kind of a memorandum" with the federal government on the dilemma, Post told the panel.

Roy Bell, assistant state finance director, said 50 state-employed persons are now "in the field" assessing the damage to the quake-rocked areas of Los Angeles County.

Chairman Randolph Collier urged the committee to approve the bill, but ordered Post and Bell to get an understanding with the federal government on what can be spent without jeopardy to its funds.

"We want to help Southern California, but we don't want to do anything premature that will cut off federal funds," the Yreka Democrat said.

William McMillan of the Department of Public Works told the committee preliminary damage to the state highway network — including interstate highways—was pegged at $15 million. Earlier estimates put the figure at $30 million.

Post said another $5.2 million worth of damage had been inflicted on city streets and county roads, bringing the total damage to $20.2 million.

However, McMillan said final figures won't be available for another two or three months. He said the total could rise.

Post said the federal government will "advance" 60 per cent of the cost to repair public facilities, but will "reimburse" the state after it spends its money to fix the highways.

Another measure to impose a temporary 1-cent gasoline tax increase to generate the funds was rescheduled for hearing next Monday.

Money Squeeze Is Worrying Flournoy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The money squeeze on the state government pocketbook is worsening, Controller Houston I. Flournoy reported yesterday.

Flournoy said General Fund receipts for the first seven months of this fiscal year were only 1.65 per cent greater than those of the same period last year.

At the same time, the controller said, government expenditures swelled by 14.56 per cent.

"I think this is another way of showing how the state's revenue gap results from costs rising faster than revenues," Flournoy said.

Cash receipts for the period totaled $2.06 billion—only $33.50 million ahead of last year. Expenditures were $2.68 billion —a total of $341.17 million ahead of last year.

The top revenue source was the sales tax which netted $978.18 million. Next was the personal income tax which accounted for $398.09 million. The levy on bank and corporation income generated $200.18 million in revenue.

The biggest drain on the pocketbook came from school apportionments which cost $771.40 million. Health care benefits accounted for $316 million in expenditures. A total of $192.24 million was paid for Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

'Serious Students' Held The Butt Of Budget Cuts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— San Francisco State College President S. I. Hayakawa said yesterday Gov. Ronald Reagan's budget cuts for higher education would not affect revolutionaries as much as "serious students" in the sciences.

"True, he (Reagan) has asked severe cuts in the social sciences program but the effect on this campus will be far more severe on students who never have given us problems," Hayakawa said.

He said budget cuts on his campus would cause a new $7.5 million science building to be unequipped and virtually unused when it opens later this year.

"From the two science branches—physical and biological—there never has been any trouble by students," Hayakawa said. "These are serious students.

At a news conference, Hayakawa also said he believed education should embrace both liberal and conservative philosophies.

He said that when San Francisco State's new biological sciences building is completed in the fall, all that can be done with it is to lock it up.

Hilliard's Trial Set On Threat

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal judge Wednesday set May 3 for the trial of Black Panther chief of staff David Hilliard on charges of threatening the life of President Nixon.

U.S. District Judge Samuel Conti said he expected Charles Garry, the party's longtime attorney, would be available to represent Hilliard, but that the trial would go on even if he were not.

Hilliard is charged with threatening Nixon's life in a speech at a Vietnam war moratorium rally in Golden Gate Park in San Francisco Nov. 15, 1969.

The Connecticut trial was in its 46th day Wednesday with a jury still not completed.

Hilliard also has a March 15 trial date in nearby Alameda County on charges of taking part in a shootout with Oakland police.

The dental office of the future will have automatically moving lights above the patient's head and supplemental lighting sources, it was reported at the annual meeting of the American Dental Association.

opportunities for the two powers to seek negotiated settlement. "There have been some encouraging developments and we welcome them," Nixon said, citing the arms limitation talks and nuclear treaties. "On the other hand, certain Soviet actions in the Middle East, Berlin and Cuba are not encouraging. Taken against a background of intensive and unrestrained anti-American propaganda, these actions inevitably suggest that intransigence remains a cardinal feature of the Soviet system."

Red China

The United States is "prepared to establish a dialogue with Peking. We cannot accept its ideological precepts or the notion that Communist China must exercise hegemony over Asia. But neither do we wish to impose on China an international position that denies its legitimate national interests."

Europe

A strong unified western Europe is a key building block for peace. American troops will be kept there at present levels of strength until there is a reciprocal move from the Communist side. "We in the West are convinced by the history of the post war period that a detente that does not apply equally to Eastern and Western Europe will be inherently unstable," the President said. The United States and its allies stand ready to work toward a settlement of Berlin and a divided Germany. "Any lasting relaxation of tension in Europe must include progress in solving the issues related to the division of Germany," Nixon said.

World Peace Risk In Mideast: Nixon

and provide a reasonable chance for political stability.

As examples of progress, he said, U.S. troop levels and costs were approximately one-half and American casualties were approximately one-fifth of what they were two years ago when he assumed office.

While efforts to negotiate a settlement were getting nowhere, he said, the South Vietnamese forces now were assuming a much greater responsibility for military operations and approximately 80 per cent of the population was under control of the Saigon government.

But he warned that North Vietnam still has the potential for seizing the initiative in Southeast Asia and said that "high levels of American assistance and air operations" would be required as U.S. ground forces pull out.

He said his controversial decision to send U.S. forces into Cambodia last spring had been proved an "indisputable military success" which bought time and confidence for the South Vietnamese army and shored up a shaky Cambodian regime threatened by North Vietnamese aggression.

"In Cambodia we can expect sustained enemy thrusts against the government," he added.

The 65,000-word report, titled "United States Foreign Policy for the 1970's: Building for Peace," was under preparation for three months and is chiefly the work of the National Security Council staff headed by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger.

Nixon last year inaugurated the tradition of a comprehensive report to Congress outlining the philosophical underpinnings of his foreign policy. He termed 1970 a year of limited success. "This year, as any year, saw crises. We dealt with them without new war and while winding down the war we inherited."

In the report the President not only reviewed the events of the past year but put forth the broad outlines for guiding the nation to what he termed a new era of partnership that "will test the capacity of American leadership and the understanding of the American people."

He characterized the new era as one in which U.S. allies would become increasingly self-reliant and help share the traditional American burden of providing aid and security to the poor and oppressed.

Nixon said he recognized that as the two most powerful nations in the world, the United States and the Soviet Union often are in conflict. But it is "folly" that can "only result in confrontation and potential catastrophe" for either to seek gain at the expense of the other.

WAR

B52s had failed to hit the radar-controlled guns. In addition, pilots ran into heavy fire from tanks.

Pilots returning to Khe San, 12 miles east of the Laotian border, said the tanks seemed invulnerable to their rocket fire. Capt. Jack Idaholt of Savannah, Ga., said, "My front seat (forward gunner) said I hit one tank three times but it kept moving."

South Vietnamese spokesman said Communist troops opened rocket, mortar and recoilless rifle fire into at least three other government combat bases and field positions inside Laos Wednesday and that the attacks caused "light" casualties. The troops themselves remained stalled 15 or 16 miles inside Laos where they are protected by U.S. artillery firing from inside South Vietnam.

Hill 31, called that because it is 31 meters high, is about 15 miles northwest of the old U.S. Green Beret camp of Lang Vei on the border. Helicopter pilots said it was overrun in three hours of heavy fighting on the third day of attack. Pilots said tanks surrounding the hill poured direct fire into the 200 ARVN defenders.

The same gunners shot down the F4 fighter-bomber but military sources said it crashed away from the battleground and both crewmen were rescued.

Purchase Of Chlorination Unit Approved

San Rafael Sanitation District directors last night approved purchase of a $1,200 chlorination unit to eliminate odors at the Riviera Drive pumping station.

After it is installed, the district will be using chlorinator odor controls at four pump stations, according to Norris M. Rawles, district administrator.

The directors also hired John James at $4.90 per hour as part time building inspector for the $500,000 Francisco Boulevard pump station project soon to begin, and agreed to dovetail the district's liability insurance with that of the City of San Rafael, Rawles reported.

PRISON

numbers are unlucky. Then school deferments allow the brighter and often more affluent to put off going into the Army until they are sometimes able to beat the draft altogether.

The brighter and better educated young men are better equipped, also, to convince the draft board they are morally opposed to war, if they choose to try for a conscientious objector status.

Young men who move about without leaving forwarding addresses constitute another group who sometimes manage to avoid the draft.

Draft board officials admit that delaying induction is usually of benefit to the young man who doesn't want to go — he may make it to the magic age of 26 without ever having to go either into the Army or jail.

Among the 27 from Marin who refused induction last year, some, like Smith and Lopez, will end up in prison. Others will never be prosecuted for various administrative reasons and some will be acquitted in courts.

Those that are found guilty and sentenced may receive anything from prison sentences to straight probation — depending on the judge who hears their case.

Carl B. Shapiro, a San Anselmo attorney who has represented many draft objectors, said that a recent policy in federal court has resulted in no new indictments for draft refusal cases in over a month.

After Judge Oliver Carter, chief U.S. District Court judge in San Francisco, said he wanted draft cases tried within 90 days of indictment, federal attorneys stopped asking for indictments because they haven't been able to get the cases ready for trial that soon.

In the meantime, Shapiro said, the old cases are being prosecuted in the crowded courts.

As for Marin draft board members, "We keep trying to produce our fair share of inductees whether we like the draft or not," in the words of Morehouse.

He admitted, however, that "it's frustrating sometimes."

He cited instances like "the kid off the ranch whose father is getting along in years and needs his son to help" as well as the student who has to drop out of school for a semester because he's run out of money.

pounds, and had blue eyes. A lower right front tooth was chipped, and he wore one earring, police said. His pockets contained $8 and a list of East Bay addresses.

Hutchinson and G. Raymond Kallman of San Rafael, chairman of Center Point's board of directors, said addicts often "are afraid to go to the hospital because of the police or relatives."

Center Point has tried — so far without success — to arrange for emergency medical back-up care at the center, Kallman said. "The doctors say to bring them in to the hospital," Hutchinson added.

Kallman said, "Center Point has been doing a fantastic amount of rehabilitation with children in San Rafael on drugs. If it had medical backup it would prove 100 per cent more effective."

COURT

"These are very, very serious crimes," the judge retorted.

He also told both Green and Richard J. Werthimer, who is Lopez's attorney, that he did not consider two years' of some kind of public service work an "appropriate alternative" to the prison term.

Lopez, married and with a small child, has been learning a wood tooling trade, according to his attorney. Smith is a bartender.

IN MEMORIAM

BROWN, KATIE — In loving memory of KATIE BROWN who passed away February 25, 1965.

She has gone across the river
To the shore of ever green,
And we long to see her dear face
But the river flows between.
Some day, sometime, we shall see
The face we loved so well,
Some day we'll clasp her loving hand
And never say farewell.

SADLY MISSED BY HER CHILDREN

An "open letter" to employers and job applicants in Marin County!

Why another personnel agency?

. . . because we believe people are more important than things.

Every business revolves around people — for no matter how good the product or how unique the service — it's the people involved that make things go! We understand people and jobs — goals and performance — ideas and concepts — and that's why we think our many years of experience in management, marketing, and personnel will enable us to serve BOTH employers and applicants with equal integrity and solid counsel. What makes us different?

1. We have both Applicant Fee and Employer Paid positions. This approach gives us broad flexibility in trying to fit the best applicant to every available position while keeping in mind the financial considerations of each. This makes us different from many.
2. We know testing and interviewing, evaluation and measurement. We try to temper these with sound judgement. We could miss but we'll try not to. Applicant or Employer — we won't waste anyone's time trying to fit "square pegs into round holes"! We will also be happy to customize screening or testing techniques to fit an employer's particular requirements. This makes us different from some.
3. We're working on placements for all levels — from clerical to executive — in general, technical and professional fields. We also have solid experience in Executive Recruiting, and offer both Applicants and Employers counsel and search at the Executive level. This makes us different than many.
4. We have both Part Time and Permanent Positions — and will approach an assignment in either area with equal enthusiasm.

Permanent — All applicants thoroughly screened and tested to fill job openings efficiently and responsibly.

Part Time — We pay salary taxes, insurance and benefits . . . handle all records . . . save employers effort and money.

Top Opera Award To Marinite

Soprano Robin Miler, 22, of Novato has won the top $500 L. Henry Garland award in the western regional auditions of the San Francisco Opera Company.

Miss Miler and a 23-year-old Berkeley soprano, who won a second $350 award, received the awards after the final held Tuesday night at the Opera House. Presentation was made by San Francisco Opera General Director Kurt Herbert Adler and his fellow judges, tenor James A. Schwabacher Jr., president of the Merola Opera Fund, and Richard A. Parrinello, music director of Western Opera Theater.

"Of the 10 finalists," said Adler, "we felt these two young artists showed the greatest potentials but were not yet ready to be considered on a professional level. We decided therefore, to give the two prizes as study grants to assist in the development of their promising talents."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miler of Novato, the young singer, was recently one of three finalists in the Metropolitan Opera western regional auditions. She is in her junior year at Dominican College, attended the College of Marin one year and has studied voice the past three years with Verna Osborne of Greenbrae.

She has appeared in productions of the opera workshops at Dominican College, College of Marin, Sonoma State College and the University of California Extension Division in San Francisco.

Mrs. Garland, who established the L. Henry Garland award as a memorial to her husband, has a home in San Rafael.

Phosphates In Detergents Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Forty House members said today they would introduce legislation that would outlaw phosphates in detergents produced after June 30, 1973, and ban other ingredients also found to cause water pollution.

Phosphates have been attacked by environmentalists who say they provide food for algae which choke waterways and use oxygen. Similar legislation has been introduced in the Senate.

Baar Drafts Interim Plan On Disaster

Mayors of Marin County's cities and towns have been offered a proposed interim plan for cooperative disaster efforts by Louis H. Baar, chairman of the county board of supervisors.

"I am concerned that the recent events in Los Angeles . . . indicate very strongly that Marin County should review and update its disaster procedures," Baar wrote the mayors in a letter dated Tuesday.

"As a first step . . . I am writing to you and suggesting that you and I as the chairman of the board of supervisors agree to the following procedures in case of a natural disaster.

"1. As soon after any event occurs, the mayors and chairman of the board of supervisors (who also is titular civil defense director for Marin), or in their absence their designees, will meet to assess the situation.

"2. If the event occurs within a city, it will be incumbent upon the mayor of that city to determine what, if any, outside assistance he needs. . .

"3. Following this meeting and general agreement, we will direct our public works directors, police chiefs, fire chiefs and managers to meet to coordinate the necessary activities as envisioned during a disaster.

"4. The coordination of efforts will be the responsibility of the political subdivisions affected or in cases of a mass situation, affecting many political subdivisions, it will fall under the general responsibility of the chairman of the board of supervisors with consultation from the areas affected."

Baar asked the mayors to review and agree on his "rough out-line of a procedure . . . as an interim measure, pending review of current legislation, and our staffs working on along range plan."

Appended to the letters to the mayors were lists of emergency telephone numbers for utilities and public agencies, for use in a disaster situation.

As outlined in a series of Independent-Journal articles completed yesterday, neither Marin County nor any of its cities has any disaster plan currently approved by state or federal civil defense authorities. The state has told each city that it can no longer be covered under any blanket county plan, but must prepare its own plans.

The county files contain only a 1960 plan. Officials are working on a new plan which "probably will be approved on an interim basis," according to William W. Ward, manager of the state's Region II disaster office.

Ike Coin Sets To Be Offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The mint will begin accepting orders July 1 for coin collectors' sets of the new Eisenhower silver dollar.

The cost will be $10 for each "proof" coin and $3 for each "uncirculated" coin. The coins will be 40 per cent silver and application forms for the collectors' sets will be available June 18.

Later this year the mint will begin turning out copper-nickel Eisenhower dollars which will go into general circulation with a face value of $1 each.

GOP Central Committee To Pick Five Youths For Panel

The Marin County Republican Central Committee, with an eye to 1972's 18-year-old vote, has decided to appoint five youths to the committee as associate members.

Each of the district committees in the county's five supervisorial districts will appoint one youth, subject to confirmation by the credentials and executive committees, reported chairman Rodgers C. Broomhead of Ross.

The only qualification will be that the young appointees be eligible to vote in November 1972.

The committee also endorsed a proposal by Broomhead that each of its 22 members appoint an associate member at the regular member's discretion.

These appointees also will be subject to confirmation by the credentials and executive committees.

Broomhead said the two new methods of appointing associate members were "to broaden the committee's base." Under previous bylaws, only the committee chairman could appoint associate members.

In other business, the committee elected Sesto Lucchi of 8 Clover Hill Court, San Rafael, and Capt. Ernest Bergman of 222 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley, to fill two vacancies.

The committee also adopted a resolution censuring Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-San Mateo, for suggesting a national debate on impeachment of President Richard M. Nixon for his conduct of the Vietnam War.

Methadone Clinic Opens Officially

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—This city's first methadone center, for the treatment of heroin addicts, opened officially Wednesday after being operated experimentally for two years.

During its experimental period, the clinic had a 77 per cent rehabilitation rate.

Dr. Francis Curry, who directs the Department of Public Health, said there are plans for nine more such centers, which will be capable of treating between 1,000 and 1,200 persons.

Mystery To Why Convict Took Hostages On Trip

By C.P. McCARTHY

"I took a chance and lost," Jimmy Dee Harvey said yesterday of his 14-hour escape adventure which included the kidnapping of two Novato housewives and two children.

The 24-year-old San Quentin inmate, arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of escape, robbery and kidnapping, had been returned to Marin hours earlier after his capture in Fullerton.

The four hostages taken from a Novato home shortly after his escape from San Quentin Monday night were Joyce Stansfield, wife of a Novato policeman; her two children, Susanne, 4 months, and Gary, 6, and Cheryl Smith, a friend of Mrs. Stansfield.

Harvey — unshaven, his brown, wavy hair tousled — met with reporters after his arraignment yesterday and said he had fled a minimum security area of the prison because he "had something to take care of and it couldn't wait."

Harvey, who was to have been paroled Aug. 16, declined to say what it was he had to take care of, saying it was "illegal", but he denied he was on his way to Fullerton to see a girl friend, whose home officers had staked out.

Harvey had a scraped nose and limp yesterday as reminders of his capture. After a bullet-marked, high-speed chase, he drove into a shopping center parking lot, smashed into a parked car and fled on foot into a laundry. There, he was tackled by the owner.

Harvey bowed his head and spoke in a low voice as he declined to say why he kidnapped the four Novato residents or why he released them.

As to the things that couldn't wait, he said he "got part of one taken care of and was on my way to take care of the other when they opened fire on me."

Harvey was dressed in white prison pants and pullover shirt and chained at the wrists and waist as he appeared before Judge Peter Allen Smith for arraignment.

MEETS THE PRESS — Jimmy Dee Harvey, head bowed and looking into microphone, has a short session with the press. The meeting with the San Quentin convict came yesterday after Harvey's arraignment on charges of escape, robbery and kidnapping.

Judge Smith appointed the public defender's office to handle Harvey's case, although the convict said he wanted to reserve the right to represent himself.

"I can get to the 'joint' without the public defender's help," he later explained scornfully.

Contests In Two School Panel Races

Contests are shaping up with new candidates filing for the April 20 elections to the Cotati and Old Adobe School District boards.

New filings for the Cotati race include incumbent trustee Andrew Camozzi; Karl J. Clark, an administrative analyst from Rohnert Park; Anthony Garbone, an institutional representative from Rohnert Park, and Susan S. Appleton, a Cotati housewife.

Filing earlier was Penny Davis-Hanley, a Rohnert Park secretary and housewife. The terms of Camozzi and Richard G. lambert will expire.

In the Old Adobe District, Petaluma, incument John A. Thompson has filed for reelection for a four-year term while incument Dora M. Eldredge has filed for a two-year term to fill the vacancy left when Robert E. Daly became a Petaluma city councilman. Carlton (Bob) Rinaldo, an employee relations specialist, has also filed.

Candidacy filing was to close at 5 p.m. today.

Missile Launch

VANDENBERG AFB (UPI)— A Minuteman II intercontinental ballistic missile was launched down the Western Test Range Wednesday at 6 p. m. by a combat wing from Grand Forks AFB, North Dakota.

Sausalito Trustees Set Budget Round

A budget for 1971-72 and personnel cuts necessitated by a continuing drop in enrollment will be considered by the Sausalito School District board at a special meeting today at 6 p.m. in Bayside School, Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg has announced.

Also discussed will be use of facilities for the coming year. The superintendent and the school board's facilities committee have recommended the district move toward a single school, with all grades located at Martin Luther King School.

Until King School can be readied for all students, the facilities committee and superintendent have recommended that kindergarten classes remain at Manzanita School in Marin City.

Marin City parents', objections to the proposals calling for eventual closure of their community's only school, resulted in disorder which led to early adjournment of Monday's school board meeting.

The board adjourned before it could consider the budget or staff reductions which the superintendent says will be necessary next year.

On Monday the Sausalito District Teachers' Association, representing most of the district's teaching personnel, passed a resolution chastising the school board for not permitting teachers to participate in facilities and personnel decisions.

"The decisions . . . have been made consistently without the inclusion of certificated staff in the important pre-planning phases," the resolution stated.

"A number of employees were notified their jobs are to be eliminated," it continued. We (the association) feel many of these positions are essential to the healthy and efficient functioning of the district, in addition to being necessary for the safety and welfare of the children."

James E. Pockrus, president of the SDTA, said the administration has eliminated the following positions: district psychologist, two counselors, one librarian, the school nurse and the special assistant (who handles discipline problems) and an undetermined number of classroom teachers.

Pockrus said the budget which the superintendent is proposing cuts the budget for teacher's salaries by 27 per cent, from $502,000 to $366,000. He said the district's total instructional budget will drop 32 per cent, from $764,211 to $518,317, if the superintendent's recommendations are accepted by the board.

Jewelry Stolen

Betty R. Fields of Santa Rosa told Petaluma police yesterday that jewelry valued at $930 was stolen from her car while it was parked at 127 South McDowell Boulevard.

Stanford Biologist To Lecture Tonight

Dr. John H. Hessell, biology instructor at Stanford University, will lecture on "Population and Politics" tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the College of Marin's Olney Hall.

Also to be presented is the film, "The Time of Man," an exposition on the meaning of the word "environment."

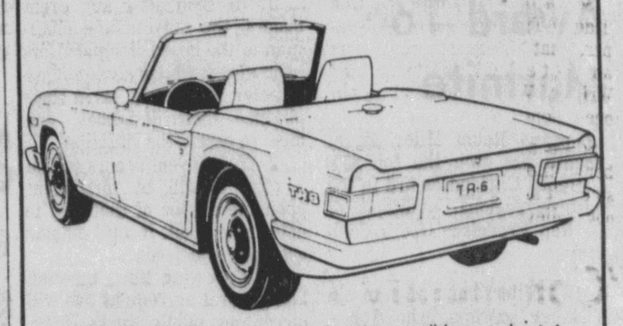
Congressman Paul McCloskey was originally scheduled to give the lecture but was unable to leave Washington D.C., the college reported.

Inmate Who Fled Furlough Still Out

A San Quentin inmate on work furlough still was missing today, after failing to return from his job to the prison Friday evening.

Associate Warden Wayne A. Bartels said that Lawrence Sang, 33, did not return from the painters' job he had held in San Francisco since Jan. 25. Sang was to have been paroled April 12, after having been imprisoned from San Francisco last July for burglary and possession of dangerous drugs.

1971 TRIUMPHS HERE NOW!



TR6 - Those initials stand for something. It's no small honor to be sixth in the TR series of Triumph sport cars. TR means 124 miles per hour on the Jabbeke Motorway in Belgium. It means placing in the top ten at Le Mans and dominating your class in American sports car racing. TR stands for one of the boldest steps ever taken in sports car engineering and for some of the greatest enjoyment available in driving today.

Souza Sees Recall Warning To Others

Reed School District trustee Leo Souza said today the successful recall of board chairman Gordon C. Wright should serve as a warning to Wright's allies on the board to mend their ways.

Souza said he didn't think it would be necessary to mount recall campaigns against trustees Kenneth G. Wells or James Richwagen if Wright is recalled April 20.

"If the recall is successful, it will tell the other board members how the public feels about the way the board is being run," said Souza, who last week filed for reelection to his seat on the board.

Souza denied telling the Ebb Tide, a Tiburon weekly newspaper, that the recall move was an attempt to "pick off" Wright, Wells and Richwagen one-by-one.

Souza said he is not a member of the recall committee and so can't speak for it but he does not believe recall leaders will find it necessary to attempt to remove Wells and Richwagen from the board.

"If the public supports the recall they (Wells and Richwagen) will get the message — either change their attitudes or get off the board," Souza said.

He said he felt the recall committee considered Wright "more of a problem" than Wells and Richwagen, who were elected to the board with Wright in 1969 and usually support him on matters before the board. Both have released statements backing Wright.

Souza reiterated his position in the squabble: "I don't approve of the manner in which the board is being run. Some wrong decisions have been made and that's why I support the recall."

Neither Ann B. Goff nor Carolyn S. Hunter, the women who filed the recall petition, was available today for comment on their plans, if any, for future recall campaigns against Richwagen and Wells.

Fire Ruins Home In Marinwood

Fire destroyed a Marinwood home within about 30 minutes yesterday, according to Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield.

The fire at the home of Leon Morgenstern, 599 Loganberry Drive, left only the shell of the building, the chief said. He estimated damage at $30,000 to the house and $14,000 to contents.

No one was home when the fire broke out, the chief said. The fire was not noticed by a neighbor until 11:30 a.m. when the windows popped out, he said.

He said the one-story Eichler-model home consisted mostly of wood panelling and glass with few partitions and walls. Therefore, it burned very rapidly, the chief said.

He theorized that the fire started in faulty wiring in the front room, but was unsure because of the extent of damage.

The family dog was in the house when the fire started, but escaped, Bonfield said.

Wholesale Prices Show Sharp Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices registered their sharpest two-month increase in 15 years during January and February, the government disclosed today.

Preliminary estimates for February said the index shot up 0.8 per cent for the month. That followed a 0.7 per cent rise in January.

The consumer cost of living showed a 0.1 per cent increase for January in figures made public last week—the smallest one-month rise in four years. The increased wholesale prices, are expected to be reflected in consumer costs later.

The February wholesale price rise of 0.8 per cent comes out to an annual rate of 9.6 per cent.

Sharply higher livestock prices paid to farmers and cattlemen were almost entirely responsible for the increase, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said, however, that the sharp rise in livestock prices was due to fewer animals being marketed because of severe winter weather and therefore was "certainly a short range phenomenon."

He pointed out that the more stable industrial commodities index rose only 0.3 per cent, about average for the past year, and that after seasonal adjustment, the increase was only 0.1 per cent.

"I am encouraged by the tiny rise in the adjusted industrial commodities component," Hodgson said in a statement.

Higher wholesale food prices normally show up quickly—in some cases almost immediately—in higher super market prices.

The big increases in wholesale prices in January and February was the largest two-month advance since a similar increase in April and May of 1956. The 0.8 per cent increase in February was the largest monthly rise since May, 1969.

Farm product prices in February went up 4.5 per cent on top of a 1.7 per cent increase in January. That was a sharp reversal of the previous five months

Waterbeds Rescued

A batch of waterbeds valued at $10,000, reportedly being held for ransom, were rescued yesterday from a Mill Valley Garage, San Rafael police reported today.

The waterbeds were found by the owners of Aquarian Products of 69 Paul Drive — they told police — after a former business associate of theirs, James Eberhart, 30, of Corte Madera, asked them for $3,000 cash ransom with $500 monthly payments later until the total value was reached. They told police that Eberhart's lawyer was asked to draw up a contract to insure payment.

Police were told that the waterbeds and some power equipment were missing from the warehouse and manufacturing plant between 7 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. yesterday. The 65-pound cases containing the beds were moved by truck or van, police said.

Police said they'd like to talk to Eberhard.

'Community Action' Won Petaluma Beauty Award

Community involvement was the key factor in bringing a national beautification trophy to Petaluma, according to the campaign chairman.

Agnes McGilvra returned from Washington D.C. today with a shiny silver trophy presented to her by Mrs. Richard Nixon. In winning the award, Petaluma was one of 10 cities throughout the nation in the under 25,000 population classification.

Mrs. McGilvra reported Petaluma was the only city in California to receive the high award. She said the judges looked for involvement and that Petaluma could document beautification activities by young people, organizations and individual residents.

Mrs. McGilvra said the campaign to beautify individual homes may have been the deciding factor. Block captains were appointed by the committee to urge neighbors to clean up, paint up and fix up their homes.

Grand Prairie, Texas, received the top award. Mrs. McGilvra said the city of 53,000 could document that 85 per cent of the residents participated in the campaign.

Social Worker Protests Firing, Wins Hearing

A Marin County social worker, whom the county wants to fire, will make an appeal to stay on the job at a hearing before the county personnel commission March 9.

The hearing into the dismissal of Winifred Dushkind is set for 3:30 p.m. in the planning commission chambers of the Civic Center Administration Building.

Mrs. Duskind, hired in 1969, received a 60-day notice of termination from superiors on Dec. 14 for allegedly poor work. She has remained on the job pending the appeal.

The employee, joined by Marin Social Workers Union Local 535, is contesting both a work evaluation report and the firing procedure.

Two Communities Report Sonic Booms

Residents of Cotati and West Rohnert Park reported sonic booms at 6:55 p.m. yesterday which apparently resulted from an Air Force defense exercise.

The public information office at Hamilton Air Force Base was unable to pinpoint the cause of the booms, but previously had announced the training flights Wednesday and yesterday possibly would result in sonic booms.

Lindsay Could Enter Demo Race

—California's secretary of state says Mayor John Lindsay of New York could enter the state's 1972 Democratic presidential primary — without switching from the Republican party.

"There is nothing in the election code which prohibits a person from being a candidate in the presidential primary of a party of which he is not a member," Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. said Wednesday.

A spokesman for Lindsay said Wednesday the mayor had no plans to change parties or to run for any other office.

The winner of California's Democratic primary will have 271 votes committed to him for at least one ballot at the party's 1972 convention.

Symphony Draws Cheers: Firebird

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — It was Stravinsky by a full length and one-half last night at the Opera House as maestro Josef Krips again got first-class work from the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

While a few in the audience may have shuddered at Alban Berg's Chamber Concerto for Piano, Violin and 13 Wind Instruments, they left cheering Stravinsky's suite from "The Firebird."

Krips, who is in his third of a four-week stint as guest conductor of the symphony, drew excellent shadings from the ensemble in "Firebird." Consistency of the reed section was especially high from the floating oboe passages to some excellent solo work by principal bassoonist Walter Green in the third movement, which is by far the most lyrical, and in sharp contrast to the jubilant finale.

Though written 15 years later, (1925) Berg's concert piece, featuring pianist Walter Klein in his debut and the symphony's concertmaster Stuart Canin, is a sharp contrast to the gay and romantic "Firebird." However, the 12-tone piece does have freshness and spirit and presents many challenges to the small ensemble and the soloists. It was expertly fashioned by both Klein and Canin with fine background instrumentation.

The concert opened with a short Mozart selection in honor of Howard K. Skinner, former manager of the symphony, who died on Saturday. In it the strings were warm and rich with a deep inner-feeling exhibited by Krips to the composer.

The solemnity of the Mozart did not, however, deter the lively character of the evening's opener — Haydn's Symphony No. 94 in G Major (Surprise). It, too, got an excellent reading from Krips who just let the orchestra float into each movement in a picturesque fashion.

The second and third movements —the andante and minuetto — have a certain spellbinding character. Especially pleasing was the sonority of the cellos and oboes in the andante.

Krips, who will conclude his duties next week, has honed the ensemble into a smooth working unit. With the return of Seiji Ozawa in two weeks to begin the second half of the 24-week season, the orchestra should be peaking, putting it into the big league of the Eastern Establishment.

The concert will be presented again on Friday night at the Opera House. A special non-subscription concert is also scheduled Saturday night with Brahm's Symphony No. 2, replacing the Berg.

Drake High To Present 'The Visit'

Sir Francis Drake High School's Drama Department will present "The Visit," a tragi-comedy by Fredrich Durrenmatt, on March 19, 20, 26 and 27 at 8:30 p.m. in the school's little theater.

The drama concerns a millionaress, played by Marcy Jermaine, who after many years returns to her small town and turns it into a boom town, merely on the promise of her millions.

The natives soon learn there is one condition attached to her promise — they must kill an aging shopkeeper, played by John Cowperthwaite, who had once betrayed her love for him.

Durrenmatt's play, originally performed on Broadway, was also made into a movie starring Ingrid Bergman and Anthony Quinn.

Honor Band Concert Saturday

The Petaluma citywide honor band will perform Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Petaluma Senior High School gymnasium.

Robert Lutt of San Francisco State College will be guest conductor of the band, made up of selected musicians from Petaluma Senior High School, Rancho Cotate High School, Petaluma Junior High, Kenilworth Junior High and Rohnert Park Junior High.

Bands from the individual schools will also perform.

Father To Choose Daughter's Clothes

LONDON (UPI)—Mrs. Herbert de Gray won custody of her seven-year-old daughter in a divorce settlement but agreed to let her former husband continue choosing the girl's clothes.

"The wife realizes he has a very good taste in dress," Mrs. De Gray's lawyer told the court.

Rejection Research Fallout Seen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The greatest benefit of transplant rejection research could be in future cures of certain kinds of cancer and arthritis.

Scientists are reluctant to predict that transplant rejection cures could be a solution to other diseases, but the possibility exists.

"There is some sort of relationship. The question is what?" said Dr. Eugene Dong of Stanford Medical Center's transplant rejection team.

Dong also said that "people who are interested in transplantations are mildly interested in allergies." Most scientists agree, however, that it is "unlikely" that cures for allergies will result from transplant research.

Dong said transplant rejection is an allergy only in the sense that tissues are rejected and thus similar basic body chemistry is involved.

The difference was explained by Dr. Folkert Belzer, co-director of transplantation research at the University of California Hospital in San Francisco.

"Allergies are the direct response of the body to antigens" (toxins which produce antibodies), said Belzer. The response is the outpouring of different substances which produce the local affect of such things as asthma.

In the case of a transplant, the antigen is a living cell rather than a pollen, and these cells have antibodies that directly attack the invading antigen.

Belzer said more basic research is needed before any conclusions can be drawn, but suggested that the "greatest benefit of research in all transplants will be the future spinoff."

"Fifty years from now it might be ten times more important for things like cancer and allergies than it is for transplantations," said Belzer. "What we learn here is the basic mechanisms of how the body protects itself and evidence shows this might also be why people get cancer. The body is fooled and doesn't know cancer is foreign and that's why it's allowed to grow. Perhaps when we look back on research today, we'll find the really big advances came from the treatment of cancer and allergies."

Sea Voyage Kills Animals, Brings Federal Charges

NEW YORK (UPI) — A sea captain and five corporations were indicted Tuesday under a 62-year-old law for mistreating wild animals on a Transatlantic trip in which a giraffe, two gazelles and 18 zebras died.

The federal indictment said the 80 animals being brought from Africa for U.S. zoos were fed spoiled hay and grass and their cages were small and badly built. The animals were put on the ship's deck and had to endure all types of bad weather, the indictment said.

The investigation was begun after the International Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals claimed a 1909 federal law prohibiting shipment of animals under inhuman conditions was violated.

The animals were destined for zoos in Milwaukee, Louisville, Tampa, San Francisco, Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha, Thousand Oaks, Calif., and New Rochelle, N. Y.

Hungry Burglar Takes Pastrami

Fifty pounds of pastrami valued at $40, some 60 cartons of cigarettes, and a safe containing $300 in cash have been reported stolen from the Diller Delicatessen at 1401 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

San Rafael police said they found the padlock on the outside door broken and the hinge pins removed. Locks on the inner doors had been pried open, they said.

According to the report, the theft occurred between 7:45 p.m. Monday and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Vegetable Mix For Meats Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Consumers during the coming decade will find growing amounts of cheap but healthy vegetable protein "extenders" mixed into meat foods, Agriculture Department experts predicted today.

By 1980 the vegetable protein from soybeans and other crops probably will displace 15 to 20 per cent of the meat in some processed foods such as hamburger, meat loaf, hot dogs and sliced luncheon meats, economists William T. Manley and William W. Gallimore reported.

The two analysts, in a report prepared for the Agriculture Department's annual Outlook Conference, said meat producers probably need not fear any loss of their present markets to the developing substitutes. But the substitutes probably will capture a share of the market growth due to population growth, they said.

210 Aftershocks

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Seismologists at the California Institute of Technology report that more than 210 measurable aftershocks have occurred since the destructive Feb. 9 earthquake.

Post: Shut Vallejo's Academy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation Analyst A. Alan Post Wednesday called for shutdown during the next two years of the California Maritime Academy at Vallejo.

He said by refusing to accept new enrollees, the state's general fund cashbox would save $200,000.

Among the reasons cited for closing the academy, Post cited the difficulty in employing graduates in the Merchant Marine and noted that at a legislative hearing last November the new training ship "Crescent City" was reported in "extremely poor condition."

The "Crescent City" is being fitted to replace the decrepit training ship, the "Golden Bear." The academy has an enrollment of about 250 cadets seeking during a three-year course to be licensed by the Coast Guard as Merchant Marine officers.

Post told the lawmakers the Coordinating Council for Higher Education, an advisory group, should study alternative uses for the academy's facilities, including conversion for possible use in the marine sciences.

CHASE ENDS IN PILEUP

This was the pileup that resulted early today when San Anselmo police were chasing an unlicensed motorist whose car had no headlights on the Miracle Mile. Police said they were pursuing an auto driven by Nadeen M. Peterson, 18, of 511 D Street, San Rafael, at 12:15 a.m. when it rammed one parked car and set off a chain-reaction crash involving two other parked vehicles. An occupant of one of the parked cars, Robert Schultz, 26, of 1490 South Novato Boulevard, Novato, was carried from the scene in a stretcher and reportedly taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael, but the hospital had no record of treating him. Court To Consider Judgeship

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The state Supreme Court agreed yesterday to consider the long-contested fight for a Sierra County judgeship which involves a former San Rafael Attorney.

In a bitterly fought primary last June, Sierra Dist. Atty. Gordon I. Smith, the former Marinite, polled nine more votes than incumbent John F. Keane in the campaign for the superior court bench.

Keane challenged the count and a trial court ruled nine ballots were counted improperly and that there was a tie. It also ruled that both names should appear on the general election ballot. Keane won the November election by 300 votes.

Meantime, however, the state Court of Appeal ruled the controversial nine votes in the primary elections were intended for Smith and directed he be certified as elected.

There has been no superior court judge in Sierra County since Jan. 4, when Keane's term expired.

Smith, 56, formerly served as Sierra's superior court judge as an appointee of the late Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, but was defeated for reelection in 1958. He was a deputy district attorney in Marin from 1950-52.

Flag And Pole Taken At Market

An American flag and pole were reported stolen yesterday afternoon from the front sidewalk at Charlie's Market at 1701 Fourth Street, San Rafael police said today.

Police said witnesses saw a six foot man with red-blond hair and "a clean-looking short goatee" park a 1966 silver Oldsmobile next to the market, take the flag and pole from the sidewalk hole, load it into the back seat and drive off.

Police said the car with license plates RXG-936 was registered to Donald C. Cocka of 755 Kent Street, San Francisco.

Tools Stolen

Tools valued at $700 were taken from a tool room in an apartment building at 945 Drake Avenue, Marin City, last Thursday or Friday, Marin County sheriff's office reported today.

Equipment Stolen From Parked Auto

Fishing equipment, stereo tapes and an air conditioning lead detector, valued at a total of $269, were stolen from a Santa Venetia man's car Monday, Marin County sheriff's deputies reported today.

Deputies said the car was parked in front of the residence of its owner, Hank F. Stetson of 310 Adrian Way.

4 Marin Schools Are Burglarized

Four Marin schools have been burglarized in the last week, Marin County Sheriff's Office reported today.

Deputies said a tape recorder valued at $45 was taken from a portable classroom at Bolinas School last Thursday.

It was undetermined, deputies reported, if anything was taken in burglaries at Dixie School in Lucas Valley Sunday; Mary Silveira School in Marinwood Monday night or Tuesday morning, or at Strawberry Point School last Friday night or Saturday morning.

Phone, Cash Stolen

Burglars took a telephone and $110 in cash from a Marin County Parks and Recreation Department workshop at McNear's Beach last Friday or Saturday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

File For Nicasio, Junior College Posts

Three more candidates have filed for seats on the Marin Junior College District board and one for a Nicasio School District board seat, according to the county schools office.

Deadline for candidates to get their names on the April 20 election ballot was 5 p.m. today at the county schools headquarters in Corte Madera.

Latest entries in the race for the junior college board were Willis C. Bohm, 121 Leland Way, Tiburon, a mechanical engineer; Richard William Beban, 50 Fremont Road, San Rafael, who lists himself as a writer-journalist, and James Kimo Campbell, also of 50 Fremont Road, a university student.

Tax Dodgers Number 100,000 In State

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)— A legislative committee looking into Mafia influence in state government discovered that more than 100,000 Louisianians had not filed their state income tax returns in 1969.

The state revenue department expects to collect upwards of $3 million in a crackdown on the reluctant taxpayers.

The Vice President of the U.S. receives $62,500 a year as salary and $10,000 for expenses, less taxes.

When Is Tenure Not Tenure? Ask The CTA

Calls for reform of California's teacher tenure law have reached the legislature, and the state's largest teacher organization is found in a paradoxical position as a result.

Bills to change the tenure law have been introduced in the state Senate by Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, and in the Assembly by Assemblyman John Stull, R-Encinitas.

Bradley's SB 245 would do away with lifetime teacher tenure, replacing it with four-year contracts.

It is not at all surprising that the California Teachers Association opposes this bill.

STULL'S AB 293 is another matter. It would not do away with tenure. But it would make the first year of a teacher's employment strictly probationary. The school district could dismiss the teacher at any time during the first year, or decline to rehire him for a second year, without filing charges or providing a hearing.

After two years in a district, a teacher could not be rehired without a finding of one of the causes set forth in the law, which would be approximately the same as those now prevailing. He would be entitled to a hearing before a hearing officer.

Rehired for the fourth year, a teacher would receive permanent status. He could not then be dismissed without charges, a hearing before a hearing officer, and an accompanying review by a panel of three educators, of whom he could choose one. If the panel and the hearing officer agreed, the decision would be binding on the school board.

STULL'S BILL also would do away with superior court review of teacher dismissals, thus removing the courts from a field in which they have no more expert knowledge than the next man, and in which they never should have been involved.

It would provide also that a teacher's probationary status could be extended for one or two years if this were recommended by the hearing officer, and that a tenured teacher could be put on two years' probation on recommendation of the hearing officer and the educator panel.

It is not surprising that the CTA opposes this bill, too. It opposed a similar bill which Stull and Assemblyman Victor Veysey, R-Brawley, introduced last year as AB 2026 — opposed it so well that, although it was extensively amended in the Assembly Education Committee, it never got out of that committee.

THE PARADOXICAL position in which the CTA finds itself, however, is illustrated in its own Legislative Letter of Feb. 9. A page devoted to the matter leads off with a piece headlined, "The Time To Defend the Tenure Law Is Now." But immediately beneath that appears another piece headed, "Orderly Teacher Dismissal Procedure, Not Ironclad Tenure, Is CTA Aim." This one goes on to claim that California's present teacher tenure law — among the most ironclad in the world — is not really a tenure law at all but "might better be called an 'orderly teacher dismissal' law."

This is what is known as having it both ways. Nice trick, if the CTA can pull it off.

Humpback Whale's Songs

A new, best-selling LP record in both Japan and the United States will probably do more to arouse people to the plight of whales than a hundred learned books or a thousand impassioned editorials.

We refer, of course, to "Songs of the Humpback Whale." Anyone who listens carefully to this haunting and moving record, cannot fail to acquire respect for the singer. And the singer is the whale recorded with an undersea microphone, against a background of underseas noises.

They are real songs, not just noises. Some of them are 20 minutes long with repeated sequences of complex and other-wordly sounds.

With the record comes a 36-page booklet telling about the indiscriminate slaughter of the giants of the deep and what we can do about it.

But the first thing you can do is buy the record. A portion of the proceeds from its sale goes to a fund to promote the international protection of whales.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Legislator With A Peeve Would Curb Right To Know

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Once again, Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, is back with legislation designed to close public records to the public.

For several legislative sessions, the Southern California legislator has sought to close the records of the state Department of Motor Vehicles to public view.

He does this on the grounds that some of the information in the department is of a "private nature."

But in the background of all the proposals Campbell has made to rob the public of its right to know is his resentment against what he terms "private research" companies having access to, and selling information, or lists of names, to private mailing concerns.

CAMPBELL REFERS disparagingly to people who make a living from this source as purveyors of "junk mail," He neglects to mention that no one has to open the so-called "junk" mail, and that it's as much a right to pay postage on it as it is for the recipient to throw it in the waste-basket.

Neither does he appear to consider the fact that the taxpayers of California provide the funds to gather the information in the files of the department, and that therefore, they are entitled to the information gathered. If government cannot share its information with the owners and fundors of government, then it should not spend tax money to gather such information.

This is one thing the federal government never has learned. It considers income tax information sacrosanct, when in reality, if the government requires it at all, it should be open to the public.

CAMPBELL'S NEW secretive bill would prohibit the department from making any bulk sale, inspection or dissemination of any list of motor vehicles registrations and driver's license information, and/or motor vehicle registration.

In any event, if Campbell has no more luck with his restrictive measure than he has had in the past, the people do not have to worry much about their right to know and the legislator who would deprive them of this basic privilege.

"Don't you know it's impolite to look over someone's shoulder?"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Juvenile Names Policy Opposed

We regret not having heard the panel discussion on the subject of printing names of juveniles under 18 years. Your recent article (Feb. 18) did point out that you are prohibited from printing the outcome of juvenile hearings. For this reason alone we think you should not print these names.

We are opposed to your present policy for a more important reason. We have had the embarrassment of an inaccurate report being published about our son. It has hurt him and has hurt us. We know of others who share our views and have had similiar incidents.

We suggest that you revert to your former policy.

War Not Within Supervisors' Realm

It is regrettable that the Marin County Board of Supervisors took a stand on the Assembly bill against California residents serving in an undeclared war. They were not elected to speak for the people of Marin County in this area. If this is a precedence for taking public stands on other matters outside their jurisdiction it can only detract from the purpose for which they were elected.

Proposition A on the November ballot was not a mandate from the residents of Marin County to take an anti-war stand on all measures. In fact the proposition was so worded as to give the voters no opportunity to support the present administration policy of phased orderly withdrawal.

If the board of supervisors feels bound to take a stand on isuues of this nature it would be well for them to be sure they represent a majority rather than acquiescing to the demands of a small pressure group.

Maloney's Remarks Highly In Order

The comment of Estelle Jackson (Feb. 19 "What Our Readers Say") cries out for response.

While I am not acquainted with the welfare questions that Mrs. Jackson discusses, and she may be right about them, nevertheless Mr. (Douglas J.) Maloney's criticizing them is quite in order, because

(1) As county counsel, it is his duty to criticize and comment on official acts and promulgations which, in his opinion, may be illegal or otherwise out of order; and

(2) It is by public disclosure of official actions that the people of Marin County become aware of what is going on in their government. Without public disclosure we have secret government, and democratic government becomes impossible.

Unemployment And Health Inequities

We have in this state of California thousands . . . of people I will call domestics working for employers who . . . refuse to contribute toward unemployment contributions . . .

The unfortunate working people when out of a job are unable to draw unemployment benefits, no savings in the bank, immediately become welfare recipients . . .

This system does not make sense. The employer refuses to contribute toward the unemployment system but is paying far more in taxes to the welfare system . . .

Those unfortunate people must be protected from these employers who refuse to help.

With regard to medical cost: . . . Most of us live in fear of the day when we may be stricken with sickness, or a long stay in hospital with heavy doctors' bills which could deprive us of our savings and even our homes. The system as we have it today is completely outdated. Our future is in the hands of private insurance companies . . . who are completely indifferent to our health . . .

It is the duty of government to take over the health of the people, in other words nationalize. Other countries do it. We are told we are the richest country in the world, if we are we can afford it . . .

It is not the big business man we have to blame . . . It is men we have placed into positions in government. They have failed, do not understand our problems . . .

Many Good Things On Television

Don't you believe it! The television picture has quite a number of affirmative projects going for it.

What about the telespots? They remind us all that we are bigots in one way or another.

And how about world peace? There is the simulated fight between two leaders (men, of course) who fight to the point of exhaustion. One assumes that they make a profit from the war.

There is the Project Hope which aids foreigners, but they have branched out now and also aid our American Indians and Mexican-Americans.

What about the Hanna Boys' Center, the Muscular Dystrophy, the Save Our Children, UNICEF? . . . And the Cancer Society with its "check-up and a check?" The Easter Seals, the March of Dimes, United Crusade; Mental Health, Planned Parenthood, Mental Retardation.

What about little Susan Spotless who says that "every litter bit hurts"? And there are the pigs that are not known by that name but "isn't it enough to make you stop?" — littering, that is.

How about the famous TV personalities who speak out on such things as Alcoholics Anonymous to Zoos? . . .

This is all off the top of my head, but you get the idea, do you not? I'm much impressed with the TV picture — or the 'boob-tube' as they call it.

Museum Volunteer Workers Praised

The Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science is anxious to thank, with your assistance, the many, many volunteers who worked and contributed so unselfishly during our recent bird cleaning operation. It was delightfully refreshing to see the many people (of all ages) pitch in and contribute needed material, transportation, food and most importantly, tender, loving care.

Over 400 birds were cleaned at the museum mostly by "instant experts," kids who didn't need to be told to be gentle and thorough — they just came by it naturally. To watch these young people perform a 20 to 30 minute life-saving operation on an oil-soaked, half-scared-to-death, wild bird and see the tenderness and the love they exhibited certainly reinforces one's faith in the vast majority of the youth of America.

Adults, too, were great. We were actually inundated with boxes, rags, newspapers, etc. Food for the many workers seemingly appeared from nowhere. Supervision came from people who worked long hours without complaint. Our two phone lines rang constantly with offers of help.

Standard Oil went way beyond the call of duty. Cleaning supplies were delivered and replenished at any and all hours. Their crew has put our museum back in better shape than it was. Certainly no volunteers that worked at the Boyd Museum that I know of are a party to any suit brought against Standard Oil and its stockholders demanding payment for services. Ours was strictly a volunteer effort. The oil spill was a disaster. But, on the bright side, good things have and will come of it. New legislation will help prevent a recurrence. Industry will institute new precautions. New methods of treating wildlife will be studied and perfected. . .

MARQUIS CHILDS

U.S. May Be Repeating Error Of Korean War In S. E. Asia

WASHINGTON — As once before in America's love-hate relationship with Asia, the shadow of Red China looms large on the eastern horizon. For all the casual way in which the Nixon administration dismisses the China threat, its potential for a wider war can hardly be exaggerated.

China doesn't want to intervene for at least two good reasons.

First, the concentration following the disastrous upheaval of Maoist internal revolution is on restoring order and productivity. China lacks the resources to go to the rescue of Hanoi.

Second, and more important, two-thirds of China's military force is concentrated on the 4,000-mile border with the Soviet Union. This is part of the confrontation with the Russians which is still the central fact of China's posture even though the propaganda noises have abated. The military manpower is simply not there to risk involvement with the United States at a moment when the USSR might catch China in a two-front war.

ALL THIS MAY be true. Yet there can be no overlooking the fact that for the first time the North Vietnamese have publicly suggested that China may respond to the invasion of Laos and the threat of invasion of North Vietnam with direct intervention. This came from Xuan Thuy, chief North Vietnamese delegate to the Paris peace talks.

Correspondingly, since the Laos invasion was first projected the statements out of Peking have been more and more threatening. On Feb. 8 the ministry of foreign affairs said:

"The large-scale invasion of Laos by U.S. imperialism is a grave provocation not only against the people of Indochina but against the Chinese people and the people of the whole world as well. Laos is a close neighbor of China. The Chinese and Laotian peoples are intimate brothers . . ."

This was followed by a pledge of "all-out efforts" to "defeat the U.S. aggressors." It may be just the familiar propaganda howl. Yet an echo of 20 years ago should be at least a stop, look and listen warning.

AS GEN. DOUGLAS MacArthur's troops approached the Yalu River on Korea's northern boundary, the outcries from Peking resembled the current pledges and denunciations. So did the rationalization in Washington on why China would never strike back.

Chou En-Lai, China's foreign minister, had informed India's ambassador in Peking that if the American army advanced to the Yalu, China would come in. That warning was passed to Washington by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. It was ignored and the Chinese hordes administered a defeat to American troops such as had rarely if ever before occurred.

They were insuring the protection of the electrification complex on the Yalu that served China's restored industry in Manchuria. Such is the current explanation for what happened in the winter of 1950. China today has no such motivation and, therefore, the propaganda howl of Peking can be safely dismissed.

This is not the view of Asian authorities outside the comfortable confines of the bureaucracy. One of the foremost, Harvard's Prof. Edwin O. Reischauer, a former ambassador to Japan, believes that each move — Cambodia, Laos and then, perhaps a little later, North Vietnam — greatly enlarges the risk.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

'Down Under' Nations Now Must Look To U.S.

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Australia, a top diplomat remarks that 75 per cent of Australia's diplomatic activity is concentrated on Asian affairs, 20 per cent on the United States and 5 per cent for the rest of the world.

New Zealanders sometimes refer to themselves as making up the United States' 51st state. It is part wistful, part jest.

But whether speaking in earnest or in jest, both "down under" nations are reassessing their roles in world affairs, with the United States as the greatest Pacific power looming ever larger and Britain, the "mother" country, smaller.

Defensively, Britain's Asian role has been declining steadily since early in World War II and is nearing the vanishing point as British forces withdraw from East of Suez.

British entry into the European Common Market could produce equally drastic economic change—New Zealand fears disastrously so.

New Zealand industry is expanding but the country's standard of living still is heavily dependent upon its agricultural exports, high quality lamb, butter, cheese and wool.

Thirty-nine per cent of New Zealand exports in 1969 went to Great Britain. Wool and dairy products made up the great bulk by far.

Without special safeguards, and these now seem very doubtful, New Zealanders say British entry into the common market will cost them between $100 million and $150 million a year or more than 15 per cent of their total income from exports.

New Zealanders simply do not understand how Britain could contemplate going into the European Common Market where the equivalent of butter and cheese now being bought from New Zealand will cost an extra $300 million per year.

British negotiators look upon the problem from the more sophisticated viewpoint of overall benefits to British industry but joining the New Zealanders are British housewives who, almost to the woman, seem to oppose it.

ECONOMICALLY LESS affected but left vulnerable defensively are the Australians.

From 40 per cent of their exports going to Britain as they did 10 years ago, the figure is now about 18 per cent, much of which would not be affected by Britain's Common Market entry.

With British withdrawal and the United States' lowered military stance in Asia, the Australians are feeling more and more alone.

This they will accept and not feel too disturbed so long as they live under the shelter of the U.S. nuclear umbrella and the United States keeps the faith with nations too small to save their independence without help.

Anti-Septic Tank Ordinance Has Few Friends In Valley

While Marin officialdom views a proposed septic tank ordinance as a necessary health step, the residents of the San Geronimo Valley see it as a veiled attempt to destroy their life style.

The proposed ordinance would apply stringent new standards to all septic tanks throughout Marin, according to John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator.

Barrows and William L. Desmond, director of the environmental division of the county health department, presented the proposed ordinance last week to the San Geronimo Valley Association and stirred up approximately 100 of the volatile residents of the valley.

"IT JUST BRISTLED. I thought they were going to run Barrows right out," attorney Gary T. Giacomini said.

While the vigilante tactic wasn't employed, the residents were peeved both at government interference in their valley and at the possibility the tough standards would force them to switch to sewers.

The ordinance would govern not only new tanks, but those already constructed whenever repairs or additions are made.

The ordinance, as it is to be heard by the Marin County Board of Supervisors March 2, would require that drainfields be set back 100 feet from water and embankments. It would also force septic tank owners to set aside an area equal in size to the existing drainfield for possible use as an alternate.

MANY HOMES in the valley can not possibly comply, Giacomini said. He noted that those that cannot will face condemnation unless they can obtain a variance.

Barrows said the ordinance, for which requirements were culled from the Brown and Caldwell report, would upgrade sewage disposal throughout the county and do away with the health hazard of failing tanks.

But, Giacomini asked, "Isn't this a backhanded way to make us go into a sewer system?"

Both Desmond and Barrows said they would prefer sewers to septic tanks, but the people of San Geronimo Valley certainly don't.

Desmond said the valley's residents want to keep the "damn things" for two reasons: they don't want to increase the density or pay the cost.

VALLEY RESIDENTS say sewers would destroy their valley. Grace Zanolini, a valley real estate woman, asked: "Where are we going to put a sewer system in? If you put a system in, you are going to cut up the whole valley."

The whole idea of the 1961 master plan, she said, was to require large lots so that sewers would never be necessary.

Jean Berensmeier of Lagunitas went even father. She charged that the proposed ordinance is to benefit developers. A sewer system, she claimed, would allow the valley to be subdivided and built up more densely.

Whatever the reason for the proposed ordinance, the people of San Geronimo Valley are looking at it with jaundiced eye. All, including county officials, agree it will be extremely tough on those who have nonconforming tanks.

Desmond said that it is the county policy to end septic tanks because they are dangerous when they overflow. The people who use them said they can fix their own tanks without interference from the government.

Report Favoring Alaska Pipeline Is Under Attack

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The vice president of the Sierra Club said Wednesday an Interior Department report recommending an oil pipeline across Alaska "is a sweeping statement that has nothing to do with environmental impact."

The report does "serious disservice to the people of Alaska and the United States," said Dr. Edgar Wayburn, vice president of the conservation group and its coordinator for Alaskan conservation issues since 1967.

The Interior Department has scheduled public hearings on the report.

Wayburn, who will testify in the hearing in Anchorage, said in a statement released here that the report claims it will "'on balance create the fewest number of environmental problems.'"

"Yet, the statement does not analyze or evaluate what these problems really are," he said.

ART BUCHWALD

It Started Out As Penny Ante, But Oh! How It Has Changed

WASHINGTON — The bullet-seared Indochina Bar and Grill was jammed when the dusty stranger walked up and ordered a straight whisky.

"You doing a big business," the stranger said.

"Yup," the bartender replied. "We've been expanding at a furious rate."

"What's the crowd doing over there?"

"They're playing poker. The game's been going on for eight years now, without a stop. It started as a little domino game but pretty soon it escalated into poker."

THE STRANGER wandered over to the table. There were six men sitting around the table — Black Jack Hanoy, Tiger Cy Gone, Charlie Cong, Big Sam, Little Louse and Kid Kamboadia.

"Beats me," he said. "I quit playing with these guys 16 years ago."

Big Sam had a giant stack of chips in front of him, and he kept giving chips to Tiger Cy Gone after each hand.

Frenchie whispered, "Big Sam says he wants out of the game, but he won't quit until Black Jack Hanoy admits defeat. Black Jack just sits there with a poker face and every time his stack gets low the Chinese guy and the fat guy they call 'The Bear' give him more chips to play with."

"WHAT ARE THE GUNS doing on the table?" the stranger asked.

"Each player says the other guy is cheating. We've had some big shoot-'em-ups around here. I've seen some mean poker games, but this beats all."

"How did it all start?" the stranger asked.

"Wal, way back before anyone can remember, Charlie Cong and Tiger Cy Gone started a penny ante poker game amongst themselves. Pretty soon Tiger Cy Gone, who was one of the worst poker players around, began losing, and so Big Sam, who was considered one of the great card players of all time, started to give the Tiger advice. Big Sam also staked Cy Gone to a small stack of chips, which the Tiger lost immediately. So Big Sam gave him a larger stack and Tiger Cy Gone, who couldn't get the hang of the game, lost that stack.

"FINALLY BIG SAM got so exasperated that he decided to get into the game himself. He put a large stack of chips in front of him hoping to scare Charlie Cong out.

"But instead, Charlie called on his friend, Black Jack Hanoy, who was anxious to get in the game because he had a grudge against Tiger.

"Before anyone knew it, the game escalated from penny ante poker to table stakes with one winner. Big Sam figured that with all his chips he could bluff and Black Jack Hanoy would have to fold.

"But Black Jack Hanoy was being backed by the Chinese guy and 'The Bear' because they had a grudge against Big Sam.

"So now the stakes are really high, and nobody is going to admit he lost."

"WHAT ARE LITTLE Louse and Kid Kamboadia doing in the game?" the stranger asked.

"They were just two spectators watching, but Black Jack Hanoy and Big Sam made them sit in. Little and the Kid don't even know how to play poker and they're both broke, but Big Sam says the more players there are in the game, the more chance Tiger Cy Gone will have of winning, and the sooner Big Sam will be able to go home."

As they were talking, Big Sam dealt the cards. "Okay," he said, "this is the big hand. If we win this one, we'll win all the marbles."

Frenchie whispered to the stranger, "He keeps saying that every time he gets the deal."

Performance Of Group Cancelled

The Black Musical Theater performance scheduled for tonight at the College of Marin has been canceled, the college announced yesterday.

The cancelation was caused by a schedule conflict at the college's fine Arts Theater where the performance was to be held.

Mill Valley Signs Get Scrutinized

The Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee has conditionally approved a sign for a Burger Chef restaurant but rejected a sign for Eastburn Tool Rental.

Zoning Administrator Howard R. McGill said the committee felt the sign for the tool rental firm at 34 Miller Avenue was "not in character with other signs in downtown Mill Valley."

Committee members told owner Larry Collum to modify the sign, McGill said.

Given conditional approval was a sign for a Burger Chef restaurant at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue. McGill said the committee wanted the sign to be rust colored instead of red and asked more information on light intensity from the sign before giving final approval.

Charles A. Yates of Novato, deputy regional forester for the U.S. Forest Service in California, has been appointed regional forester for the national forests in Alaska.

A native of San Francisco, Yates served with the Civilian Conservation Corps in Trinity National Forest in 1934.

He graduated from Oregon State University in 1948 and began a Forest Service career in Plumas National Forest and later was assigned to positions on the Cleveland, Six Rivers and San Bernardino national forests in California.

Yates was promoted in 1962 to the Rocky Mountain Regional Office in Denver. He returned to California in 1966 to his present position as deputy regional forester.

Yates's new assignment in Alaska involves management of more than 20 million acres of national forests.

Sonoma Judge Leaving Bench

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County Municipal Court Judge A. F. Scheidecker has announced his retirement from the bench on March 31.

Scheidecker, 67, has been a municipal court judge in Santa Rosa since September of 1959 when he was appointed shortly after the legislature created a second municipal court.

Scheidecker was born and reared in Sonoma County and received his law degree in 1936 from Stanford Law School.

Gov. Ronald Reagan will appoint a successor. Scheidecker's term expires in January 1975.

To Juvenile Court

The case of Clara Ann Moran, 19, of Corte Madera, charged with five counts of forgery, has been referred to Marin Juvenile Court. She was arrested last Friday and charged with passing bad checks at various Purity markets.

More Protests Over Fair Merger Issue

RED BLUFF (UPI)—Witnesses at a "Little Hoover" Commission hearing have protested against the idea of consolidating some of California's 76 local fairs.

The protests followed a pattern made familiar at three other hearings in different parts of the state, hearings which have led the commission's executive director, L. H. Halcombe Jr., to announce that consolidation may be "not feasible and . . . not even desirable."

California now spends about $8 million a year to support the fairs and a subcommittee of the Commission on California State Government Organization and Efficiency has been conducting a series of local hearings on the possibility of reducing the number of fairs.

"We won't mislead you," subcommittee chairman James E. Kenny said. "Elimination in some cases is a possibility but it is not a direct aim."

Sen. Fred Marler, R-Redding, protested that the proposal would mean reducing the 10 fairs in his district to four.

"These changes will mean elimination, not consolidation and there'll be nothing left."

He said his office had received 400 letters opposing the proposal and only one in favor.

COWBOYS AND INDIANS

Giorgio Di Sant Angelo looked toward the American Indian for his inspiration in designing the fur cape, left. Drama in design is fundamental as reflected by the handkerchief hemmed and fluttering fisher tails. The cape is cut from Swakara karakul lamb from South West Africa. An unusual tortoise-dyed pattern is worked on the diagonal to emphasize the bold design. Cowgirl fashions make a come back, right, in homespun linen-like fabric of textured polyester. The white shirt with saddle stitching tucks into a seamed skirt. The little bolero matches the skirt.

Whys And Hows Of Child Care

By BARBARA HOSMER

The concept of child care available to anyone who wants it for their children has been gaining support over the past year, and last night concerned adults thrashed out their ideas for suitable child care at a public meeting at the College of Marin.

Sponsored by the Marin Chapter of the National Council of Jewish Women and Marin Mental Health Association, the meeting presented a panel and voted to hold a follow-up session to attempt action.

Opening the panel, Joe Denhart, director of children's centers and pre-school programs for Marin County Schools, summed up current efforts as "trying to feed a hungry herd of elephants with a bale of hay," adding that low funds will be a factor for the next five years in public child care.

Currently the County provides day care for 130 children in centers located in Marin City, San Rafael and Novato, and 40 children are on waiting lists, Denhart said.

"I'm very pessimistic," he said. "Money for children's services in Marin is just a bale of hay. I've run Head Start here for five years, and even though we've had them in the state for 25 years, very few people even know what child centers are."

He said that there are 40 independent sources of funding and that they are independent and unco-ordinated.

QUALITY CHILD care is complex and expensive, he said, and warned that, while day care is not yet ruled by rigid guidelines, those who wish to set up such centers should avoid rigid regulation so that the centers can be innovative and contribute to children's education, rather than merely custodial.

Panelists Teddy Robertson and Marilyn Anderson from the Marin Chapter of the National Organization for Women pointed out that adequate and educational day care centers should require participation by both men and women and provide a variety of learning experiences for boys and girls that encourage similar skills for both.

Pointing out that child care centers would allow women to get out of the house and into community life, Mrs. Anderson said that child rearing should be shared by fathers and the wider community. NOW proposes a complete public child care service to all families who wish it, on the same basis as public supported parks or libraries, she stated.

She said that the centers should be locally controlled, available at flexible hours and contain no sexual, racial or cultural bias in their educational programs.

AGREEING, welfare rights representative Sue Carpenter said,

"Child care is needed by any mother who has a desire for it. It would put very valuable people into the mainstream of our society."

Mrs. Carpenter urged that such centers be locally controlled by the parents and its teachers, and she warned that a child care center should not be used as a whip to put welfare mothers to work.

She said that she is trying to start a child care center with a group of welfare mothers in San Anselmo and Fairfax, hoping to make it a pilot project to be extended in a network of small centers in Marin.

"Each should be community controlled as each community is different and should deal with its own problems," she said.

Linda Remy of Marin Foster Parents Association called for training for foster parents and those who would help run child care centers.

"People who run day care homes should educate themselves to be better parents of other people's children," she said, suggesting nutrition classes and training to spot troubles in the children in their homes, for example.

She said that current child care programs in Marin are for "parents that have the onus of being poor. We are trying to integrate our society, yet we've just created another ghetto for pre-schoolers."

Psychiatrist Dr. Joan Kelly emphasized that early childhood experiences are very important in a person's life, yet emphasis has always been on custodial rather than educational child care.

"DAY CARE should supplement what a family can provide. Basically, it is not a place that takes over the care of the child, but that will educationally supplement it," Dr. Kelly said.

She recommended small child care centers with trained staff, some provision for health care, and co-ordination among such day care programs.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

Some of us guys have been banned from the local skating rink because our hair is "too long."

What really knocks me out is that my hair isn't that long. It is always clean and neat, like my clothes. That goes for most of us.

Can an owner get away with this? — ROGER

DEAR ROGER:

An owner can make house rules, but if they are out of reason, he'll soon be out of business.

"Clean and neat" is necessary, but long hair in itself shouldn't get you banned. How about organizing a customer boycott? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

It was with disgust and horror several weeks ago that Iread a newspaper article about "live" abortions. It seems that in New York (and probably elsewhere too) the "salting out" method is used to abort fetuses that are more advanced. Sometimes the saline solution injected does not kill the five-month baby. (Abortions are allowed in "liberalized" states at up to 24 weeks of pregnancy.) It is born alive, then allowed to die because it is so damaged it would never be normal. Could a girl ever get over that experience? This isn't the "easy" way!

I have always felt that abortions should be performed only to save a mother's life or sanity, or if the baby will be severely deformed.

I speak as one who had an unwanted pregnancy. My son was born out of wedlock, but I thank God I had him. He has been adopted by my husband and is the joy of our lives. — A.B.

DEAR A:

I, too, am repelled by abortion and feel that only in case of dire necessity should it be performed after the mother is into her fourth month of pregnancy. Although I've urged liberalized abortion laws, Ipray for the day when prevention becomes the main solution, and safe birth control is made available to all who need or want it — especially to the poor.

More and more I'm learning from my correspondents (nurses as well as patients) that abortion is not always the easy way out. For some, it leaves guilt and traumas that take years to erase.

DEAR HELEN:

There's a teacher in our junior high school who thinks he is the principal, but he's not.

Every time we have a good idea to help our school, he tells us we can't do that. Sometimes our principal is on our side, until this teacher gets to him, and then everyone gangs up against us.

If we try to petition for better lunches, for instance, this teacher says we will only cause trouble. If we want a school play or "fair" he downgrades it so much that all the other teachers agree it would be too much work.

Just because we have one teacher with tired blood, does he have to spread it around and get everything we want nixed? — DISGUSTED STUDENTS

DEAR STUDENTS:

Seems to me you kids have "tireder blood" than he has, since you allow one man to swing the whole teaching staff against you. If your cause is right (and doesn't cost too much money) don't cave in so easily. Promote, campaign, persuade, and your enthusiasm will surely strike sparks. — H.

Two Catherines Promoted Gloves

CHICAGO (UPI)—Let's hear it for Catherine de Medici, who proved the French are great glovers.

Gloves got a late historical start. But by the 14th century, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, they were worn by the upper classes, particularly by men.

As something for women, however, glove-wearing made no progress for the next 200 years. Then Catherine, queen of France, began wearing them. This immediately set a fashion standard which still gives women that "dressed up" feeling.

Printed Clothes

Printed looks in spring clothes for women include small geometrics, figuratives, brilliant abstracts, Matisse colors. The small-scale printes are most important.

Tips For Buying New Dishwasher

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—Helen E. Bell, extension home management specialist at the Pennsylvania State University, has some tipes for home owners who are considering purchasing new dishwasthers.

Miss Bell said that rack design is one feature to consider. Check the rack for ease and flexibility of loading. Miss Bell also suggested looking for washers that have a built-in heating element.

He is employed with Leader, Jarvis and Keigwin certified public accountants in San Rafael.

Disaster Research Center Is Sought

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, has urged President Richard M. Nixon to establish a "natural disaster research center" at the California Institute of Technology.

Clausen said that the recommendation resulted from his tour of the Los Angeles earthquake site.

He also urged that funds be allocated to initiate an expanded earthquake fault zone mapping and geological investigation program in California.

Clausen wrote that while the present emphasis was on recovery and rehabilitation after a disaster, the time had come to work toward mitigating the effects of disasters through preparedness and prevention before they strike.

"We must take immediate steps to live with earthquakes," Clausen said. His letter to the President concluded that the proposed center could "maximize coordination and minimize delay and duplication. This certainly is in keeping with your favorite slogan, 'forward together.'"

Youths Cited On Burglary

Two Mill Valley youths have been cited to Marin County Juvenile authorities on suspicion of breaking into Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley and stealing $87.

Police said officers found the two, Jeffery Grant De Haas, 13, of 152 Richardson Drive, and a 12-year-old, inside the school building yesterday at 8:57 p.m.

Envelopes containing $87 in cash and checks totaling $9 were found in their possession, police said. The youths were later released to their parents.

Entry was gained by breaking a window, police said.

Chinese Woman Sues To Get Citizenship

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A Chinese woman who moved to the United States two decades ago is challenging laws which prevent her from becoming a citizen until she learns to speak, read and write English.

Tung Hai Look, 56, San Francisco, filed suit Wednesday asking that a three-judge federal panel declare unconstitutional all laws, regulations and procedures which require English as a condition to U.S. citizenship.

Testimony Of Army Church Spying

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Senate subcommittee was told today that military undercover men investigated and kept lengthy files on church groups.

Curtis M. Graves, a Texas state legislator, testified that Walter Birdwell of Houston, a former agent for the 112th Military Intelligence Group, told him he "had seen a card file on every member of the Unitarian Church in San Antonio."

In addition, Laurence F. Lane and Oliver A. Peirce, former Army intelligence specialists assigned to Ft. Carson, Colo., told how a church young adult group in Colorado Springs was infiltrated by undercover men, even though it had nothing to do with antiwar movements.

Peirce and Lane said the group, called the Young Adults Project (YAP), was placed on a chart of extremist groups.

In addition, Sen. Sam. J. Ervin, D-N.C., subcommittee chairman, said a former clerk for Army intelligence at Fort Ord, Calif., had told him that in 1964 "a thick file was being kept on all the activities of the Monterey (Calif.) Unitarian Church."

Ervin cited another incident where, he said he was told, the Episcopal bishop of California, (C. Kilmer Myer) was kept under surveillance in 1969 by naval intelligence as a result of his antiwar activities.

Lane also said agents from competing Army intelligence units sometimes tailed each other in an effort to find out where their competitors were going so they would not get scooped on the latest intelligence information.

"It was a spy versus spy situation," he said.

In one instance —an antiwar protest rally outside the gates of Fort Carson —Lane said there were more intelligence men present than demonstrators.

"There were so many helicopters in the sky that the boom mike would only pick up the helicopter noise and I couldn't hear the speaker," Lane said.

He estimated there were 150 representatives of intelligence units on hand and only 119 demonstrators.

The former agent said every bit of information collected in such situations, even what he described as obviously untrue intelligence, was transmitted over an elaborate high-speed teleprinter network connecting various intelligence commands.

On one occasion, he said, agents were assigned to take down license plate numbers of every car moving toward Washington on the Baltimore-Washington Parkway during a 1969 antiwar Moratorium in the city.

The license tags, he said, were transmitted on the teletype network "so if you happened to be on the parkway that day you got your license number on the teletype."

Graves told the subcommittee that Birdwell informed him that Army intelligence had had him under surveillance since 1960— when he participated in a sit-in at Houston that preceded desegregation of public accomodations.

The Texan said he could recall hearing loud noises on his private telephone, which may have been from a crude tap, and that extra microphones were attached to the speakers stand when he made public appearances.

"I could document so many cases where things that were said over my phone came back to me or became public information within 48 hours until we would be here for the rest of the evening talking about them," Graves said.

He said he had "literally lost faith in this country as a result of the information I have found out in the past several weeks ... I can't conceive in my mind why public officials and private citizens in this nation would have to be subjected to such scrutiny by the armed forces in this country."

$60 Million Tab For Alcoholism

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Alcoholism costs the San Francisco business community $60 million a year, this city's chapter of the National Council on Alcoholism estimates.

Mortimer Fleishhacker Jr., chairman of the council's labor-management committee, made the estimate Wednesday while asking employers to assist alcoholic employes.

William Livingston, who will direct a labor-management group on alcoholism, said that up to 8 per cent of the 531,400 persons employed in this city are alcoholics.

Attorney Says Revolver Taken

William O. Weissich, San Rafael attorney and former Marin County District Attorney, reported that a .38 caliber colt revolver was stolen from his office Tuesday, according to police.

Weissich said that it was the third revolver stolen from his office in the last six months. In each case, he said, the desk and office had not been ransacked nor was there any evidence of forced entry.

Weissich reported the theft on his return from Los Angeles at 6 p.m. He said his secretary told him that as he left her office at 5 p.m., she saw two unidentified men standing on the balcony that surrounds the penthouse office.

Weissich said the revolver had been loaned to him by a friend, Donald Midyett, investigator for the district attorney's office.

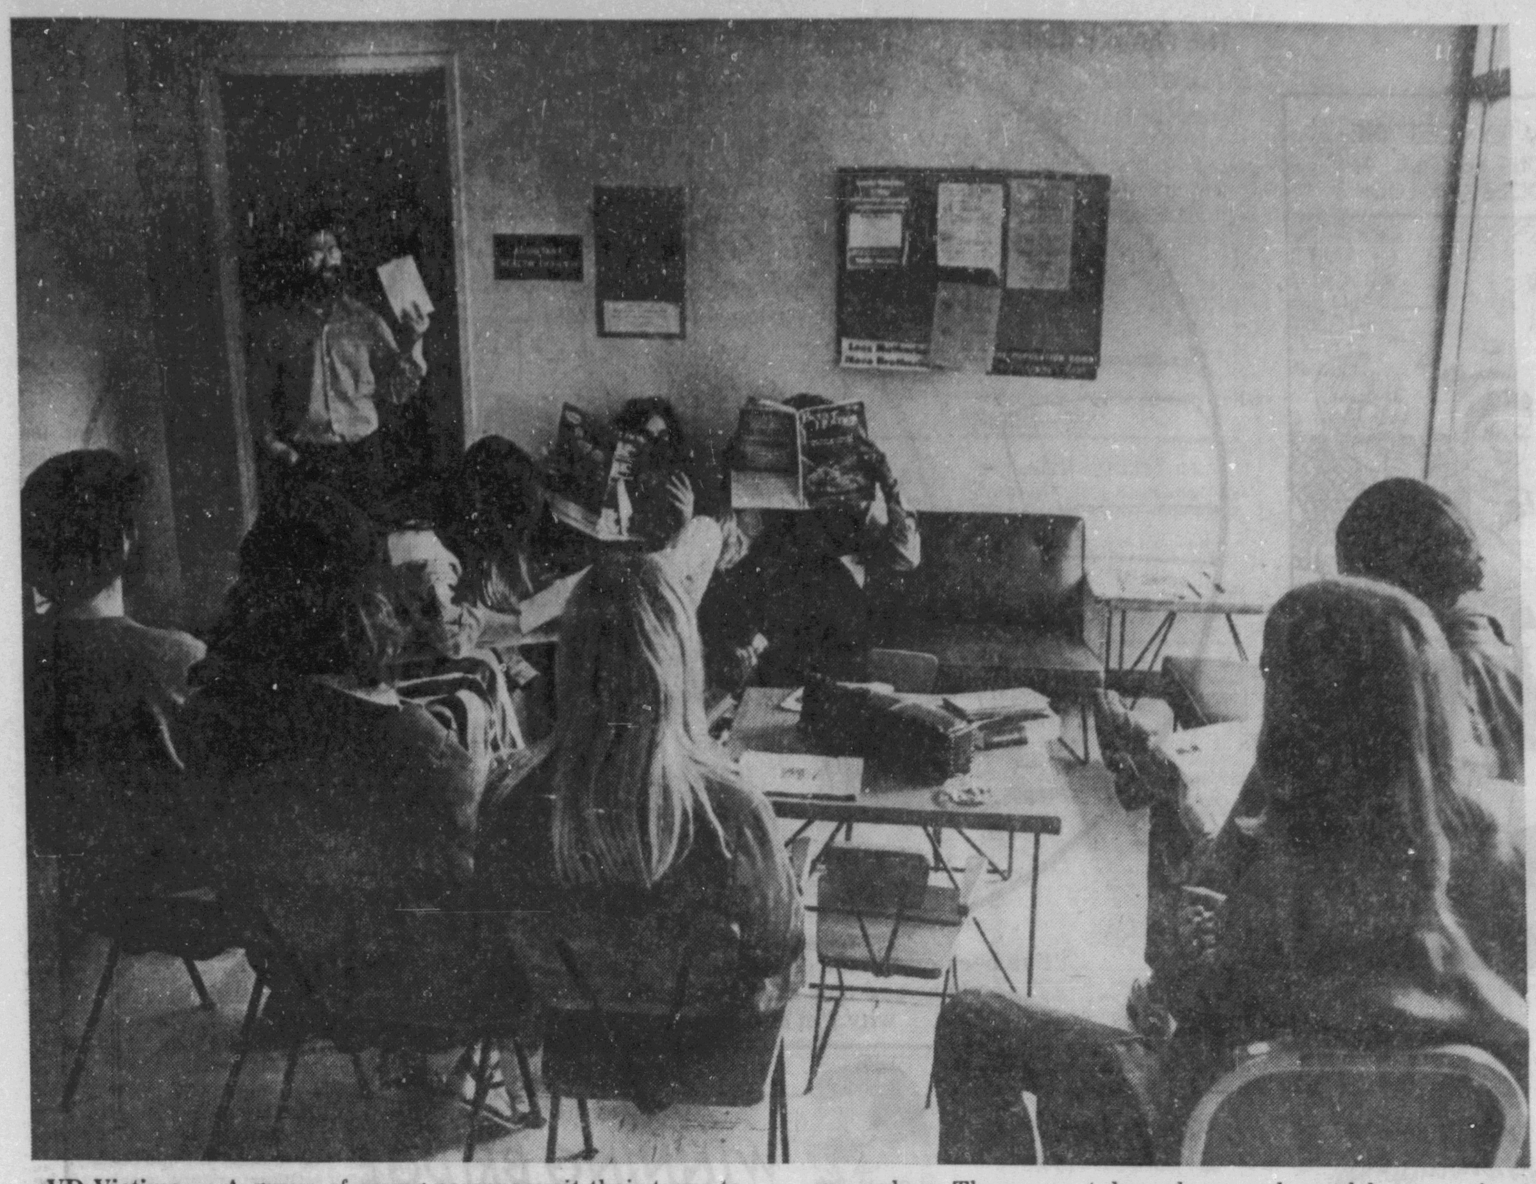
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1971 17



VD Victims — A group of young persons wait their turns to be called by public health investigator John Mauer (in the doorway) for treatment of the disease they all have — gonorrhea. The scene takes place each weekday morning at the Marin County's VD clinic in San Rafael.

INVISIBLE EPIDEMIC

Youngsters Casually Accept It

By MARY LEYDECKER
(First of two articles)

About a dozen young people, mostly long-haired and hip but some short-haired and what is known as "clean cut," lounged on chairs, talking, smoking and looking at old magazines.

One young woman pulled out a lunch from her bag, offered her companion a sandwich and took an orange for herself. Another young man fretted out loud, "I have to get back soon for my fourth period class."

The only clue one would have as to what brought these young people to the building at Fourth Street and Grand Avenue in San Rafael was given by a soft-spoken receptionist, who asked politely of newcomers, "VD?"

The answer was always in the affirmative.

This group — typical of the mostly 12-to-22-year-olds who gather each weekday morning at the Marin County Health Department — represents only the outward symptoms of the venereal disease epidemic sweeping the county.

The VD picture in the United States is depressing. In California, it is staggering. But in Marin County, like neighboring San Francisco, it is beyond belief.

Last year 1,480 cases of gonorrhea were reported — an increase of 24 per cent over 1969, and an increase of almost 1,000 per cent in a 12-year period during which population increased less than 50 per cent.

How many cases go unreported is anyone's guess. State officials estimate up to 13 per cent, but many feel the figure is much higher. Private physicians often treat people for gonorrhea without a laboratory analysis, which would automatically be reported to the health department.

Syphillis, considered to be on the decline statewide, was up 51 per cent last year in Marin County with 56 cases reported, compared to 37 the year before.

Officials estimate that one out of 10 Marin high school students will be a venereal disease victim before his graduation.

There were several of these high school students at the VD clinic at the health department one morning last week.

The young man who was worried about getting back to class waited on the edge of his chair while his girl firend spent the required 15 minutes sitting down after a penicillin shot.

(The waiting period is to determine if patients have an allergic reaction to the drug, officials explained.)

Another youth came to the desk accompanied by two friends.

"I want to see a doctor," he told the receptionist.

"VD?" she asked.

He nodded yes and was told to take a card with a letter on it and wait. "You, too?" the receptionist asked his friends. They mumbled "no," and decided they "would walk around outside for a while."

A hippie couple gathered up their sleeping bags and back packs after their shots and left arm-in-arm.

This attitude may be the reason that VD is rampant, according to those who work with the problem.

"Don't blame the pill!" said Philippa Denning-Kemp, one of two staff members who first interview patients at the clinic.

Miss Denning-Kemp, a friendly red-haired Englishwoman who has been with the county health department since 1958, is an "edidemiological investigator."

Speaking rapidly and with the accents of her native country, Miss Denning-Kemp, describes "the whole change in the sexual mores of the young" as the cause of the VD epidemic.

"Casual sex" as well as an appalling lack of knowledge about VD are cited as the bases for the problem — not the contraceptive commonly called "the pill."

"We did a survey last year for two months of the girls who came into the clinic," Miss Denning-Kemp said. "We found that 76 per cent of them were not using any contraceptives at all."

"Why not?" we asked them.

The usual answer was that they stopped using the pill after reading an article in a woman's magazine warning about detrimental side effects from contraceptives, Denning-Kemp said.

"This really horrified us," she added. "We told them, 'You're not only likely to get venereal disease but get pregnant as well.'"

Miss Denning-Kemp, who interviews patients to determine if they probably have VD before they are sent on to see a doctor, sees "awareness" as the only answer to the rising rate of the diseases.

"If they knew what might happen to them, maybe they would stop and think," she said, 'or at least do something about it after they have the disease," she said.

"We don't deal in morals at the clinic," Miss Denning-Kemp said. "We deal only with a disease that happens to be transmitted only through sexual contact."

(Tomorrow: 'What can happen' and what efforts are being made to educate Marin's young people about VD.)

Merger Of Juvenile Panels Liked

Chairman John L. Rockwell asked La Verne Uhte of Mill Valley to confer with chairman James C. Upshaw of the delinquency prevention commission on the merger idea.

Jody Becker of Ross, who suggested the merger, was appointed to study the mechanics needed and to sound out County Administrator Alan Bruce and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney for their views.

Mrs. Becker said the two commissions are combined in both Sutter and Contra Costa counties. "This is apparently occurring in many counties, and it avoids overlap of programs."

Rex T. Silvernale said the merger was suggested in Marin about two years ago, but difficulty arose because the justice commission is appointed by the juvenile court judge while the delinquency commission is appointed by the board of supervisors.

Mrs. Becker said she found that other counties still retain both commissions but meetings are held jointly, and everyone votes as one group on all issues.

"I think it's a good idea," said Juvenile Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson. "In fact, I'd like to see this explored."

Probation Officer John W. Brewer said the only problem he sees is that the scope of the delinquency commission activities may be broader than that of the justice commission.

However, all members agreed that the merger idea should be explored.

Transit Panel Is Tied — No Funds

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

OAKLAND — The new Metropolitan Transportation Commission, armed with tough powers but left penniless by the Legislature, said yesterday it will be "just another debating society" unless it can dig up a hefty chunk of money.

And Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort, chairing the 19-member commission at its first business meeting, warned operating revenue must not come from state gas taxes because it would subject the commission to "charges our plan was prejudiced because it came from highway sources."

Bort apparently had in mind widespread criticism of a transit plan drawn by the now-defunct Bay Area Transportation Study Commission. It took five years to draw at a cost of over $6 million, with its funding mostly from state and federal highway funds.

The MTC also must draw, by mid-1973, a regional transportation plan. Unlike BATS, however, it has the power to veto plans by local transportation agencies in the Bay Area.

How much money will be needed was not clear, but it was noted that the interim successor to BATS has a budget of about $620,000 this fiscal year. The interim successor, the Regional Transportation Planning Committee, was created two years ago by the state and Association of Bay Area Governments. Under the 1970 law creating the MTC, however, the committee must turn its job over to MTC.

Bort, also chairman of ABAG's finance committee, assured the commission that remaining funds from the interim committee would be available to start MTC.

No decision was reached on where to get needed funds for future operations, but commission members agreed to seek both federal planning funds and funds from countries in the region. The eight counties in ABAG now pay a special assessment totaling $75,000 a year to the interim committee.

James P. Kenney of Contra Costa County warned that without enough funding to equip the commission with a strong staff the commisssion was bound to be "just another debating society."

In other matters, commissioners "borrowed" Paul C. Watt, the $31,500-a-year program director of the Regional Transportation Planning Committee, and agreed to make him executive director of MTC as soon as it has funds. His salary was not set.

Commissioners also asked the Golden Gate Bridge District to designate a representative to a five-member committee to coordinate connections between Bay Area transit systems.

The next meeting was set for 9:30 a.m. March 17, again in the Alameda County Board of Supervisors chambers in the county administration building on Oak Street.

Africa Conference Slated At College

Levell Holmes, chairman of the Afro-American studies at Sonoma State College, will speak at an all-day conference on Africa beginning 9 a.m. Saturday in Room 358 of the Humanities and Language Building at San Francisco State College.

Topics scheduled for the conference include prospects for revolution in southern Africa, African arts, African students in the U.S., the politics of black revolution, socio-economics in the black world and black women's liberation.

Trial Rides Offered To Sunset District

Marin residents who work in San Francisco's Sunset District, have been invited for a trial bus ride by a newly formed commuter club of the University of California in San Francisco.

The club's first bus started service on Feb. 1 and picks up passengers in Corte Madera, Mill Valley, Tiburon and Sausalito. It arrives at U.C. Hospital on Parnassus Avenue at 7:50 a.m. and leaves from the same place at 5:30 p.m.

Commuters who have already joined the club take turns providing coffee, doughnuts and cocktails at the appropriate hours.

The direct bus service to the Sunset District also serves commuters who work near the California Academy of Sciences, De Young Museum, Stonestown and San Francisco State College

The commuter club bus is a joint pilot project of the University of California and the Golden Gate Bridge District and Marin community effort to fight air pollution, highway and city traffic problems.

Those interested in the trial ride may contact Bryan Chapman, Chancellor's Office of the University of California in San Francisco.

Increased Forgery

CAIRO (UPI)—Representatives of nine Arab countries recently attended a meeting here to discuss ways of combating forgers of Arab currencies. Delegates said forgery in Arab countries had increased in recent years and charged it was part of an "imperialistic plot" to stunt Arab economic growth.

The Novato chapter of the Air Force Association today honored two Marin women and the Independent-Journal for their efforts to gain release of prisoners of war in Vietnam.

National Air Force Association awards were presented to Julie Butler of San Rafael, wife of a prisoner of war, and Leslie Callahan of Corte Madera, who worked on the campaign waged in Marin by the Jaycees.

Wishard A. Brown, publisher of the Independent-Journal accepted on behalf of the newspaper which was cited for its news stories on the campaign and publication of the form of the letter designed to be sent to Vietnam requesting release of the prisoners.

The awards were presented at a luncheon at Nero's restaurant in Ignacio, M/Sgt. R. T. Barnes of Hamilton Air Force Base spoke about "Laos Today —A Personal Experience."

BART Panel —No To Span District Transit Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A committee of Bay Area Rapid Transit District directors suggested Wednesday that the Golden Gate Bridge District leave all Bay rapid transit to BART management.

The legislative committee adopted a unanimous policy statement calling for opposition to all forms of legislation "harmful to the interests of transit riders and taxpayers of the BART district."

Director William C. Blake, former San Francisco supervisor, said the bridge district is in the process of purchasing a fleet of ferries and buses.

He suggested BART oppose these and other proposals submitted to the California legislature.

Today is Thursday, Feb. 25, the 56th day of 1971.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Pisces.

On this day in history:

In 1901 J. P. Morgan formed the United States Steel Corp. in New Jersey, the nation's first "billion-dollar" enterprise.

In 1919 Oregon became the first state to put a tax on gasoline — 1 per cent.

In 1967 American warships began shelling Vietnam.

In 1970 a record 1.3 million was paid for a Vincent Van Gogh painting in New York City.

A thought for today: Irish poet Goerge Russell said, "Twilight, a timid faun, went glimmering by, and night, the dark-blue hunter, followed fast."

Varda, Others' Work At Benefit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Works by several well-known local artists, including the late Jean Varda, will be displayed this weekend at an exhibit to aid Fort Help.

A mirror by Varda and a plastic rainbow sculpture by Fred Unterseher will be featured Saturday and Sunday.

Other artists' works to be shown include those by Guy Buffet, Morton Beebe, Carolyn Cavalier and Rose Van Lengen.

Fort Help was founded by San Francisco psychiatrist Dr. Joel Fort and is a non-profit center designed to help persons with behavioral and emotional problems, emphasizing all forms of drug abuse.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Habits Can Save Thoughts, But Also Can Prove Costly

Since it's quite a bit of work to think on every bridge hand, most of us acquire habits to take the place of thinking. For example, it's habitual to win the first trick of a suit in the hand that has fewer cards of that suit. South did that in today's hand, only to discover that he had an expensive habit.

LOW HEART

West opened the deuce of hearts, and South wasted no time thinking. He automatically played low from the dummy and won with the ace in his own hand. This followed the old rule of winning the first trick in the "short" hand.

The rest of the story is sad but mercifully brief. South immediately led a trump, forcing out the ace. East returned the queen of hearts, and West ruffed. Now the defenders got two diamond tricks, and South was down one.

Of course South moaned pitifully about his horrible luck, but nobody listened to him. The defenders were too busy glowing with the satisfaction that comes of defeating an unbeatable contract; and North was too busy growling about the deterioration of the world in general and his bridge partners in particular.

TIME SAVER

All of this talking at cross purposes consumed time, of course, and South could have saved this time if he had taken four or five seconds to think before he played from dummy at the first trick.

South couldn't be sure that the opening lead was a singleton, but it was certainly a possibility. He could protect himself against this risk by winning the first trick in dummy with the king of hearts and then cashing the ace of clubs to discard the ace of hearts!

SIMPLE MATTER

It would then be a simple matter to draw trumps. If East led a heart after taking the ace of trumps, South could ruff with a high trump and draw the rest of the trumps. He could then give up two diamond tricks and claim the game and rubber.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♥ - 2
♦ - K 8 7 2
♣ - Q J 6 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Since you have the values for a minimum response, your choice is between the spade raise and one notrump. You would prefer better spades or more spades for the raise, but it would be even worse to bid one notrump with a singleton in an unbid suit.

No Witnesses, Case Dismissed

A charge of possessing stolen property against Lawrence A. Sunstrom, 18, of Novato has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Robert A. Smallman dismissed the charge after the district attorney's office reported it was unable to locate witnesses.

Sunstrom was arrested in Novato Nov. 12 after he allegedly sold a .22 caliber revolver which had been reported stolen.

Trouble Seen For Any Reagan Welfare Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The former Assembly Republican leader predicts Gov. Ronald Reagan's welfare reform plan—which has not even been disclosed—will never be approved by the Assembly Welfare Committee.

Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, said Wednesday he hoped Reagan's forthcoming welfare plan would not be the only one presented to the Democratic-dominated welfare committee.

"That one (Reagan's) is not going to get out of this committee," said Biddle. "Let's be honest."

Reagan administration welfare officials told the committee they did not know why welfare costs are soaring.

"For us to sit here and try to tell you why welfare has grown will be a farce," said Philip J. Manriquez, assistant to the social welfare director.

Other witnesses said that whatever the cause of welfare cost increases, only one or two per cent of the 2.2 million welfare recipients were guilty of fraud.

Reagan intends to present the legislature with a welfare reform package early next month. It is designed to reduce the cost of welfare.

"If we don't know the reasons for the growth how are the recommendations for the reductions going to be made?" asked Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco.

The latest state figures show more than 2.2 million Californians were on both welfare and Medi-Cal in January and another 183,000 were on just Medi-Cal. The combined total represented an increase of 44,000 since December and 455,000 in the last year.

By next year, 20 per cent of California youths under 18 years old will be on welfare, said John M. McCoy, director of the department's research division.

Bill Hay, Sacramento County welfare director, said only one to two per cent of the welfare recipients are guilty of fraud. He attributed the climb in welfare costs to the "economic recession and continuing recession."

"In terms of fraud, the chislers, the loafers, the no gooders—there are very few of those," added Emanuel Gale, coordinator of the Legislative Coalition for Welfare Reform. The coalition is comprised of several church, social welfare, civil liberty and student associations.

"There is a direct relationship between the increase in unemployment and the increase in caseload," he added. "Those counties that have been hit the hardest by unemployment show the most dramatic increases in caseload."

Army Says Calley Is Premeditated Killer

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—An Army psychiatrist testified today that Lt. William L. Calley suffered no mental impairment and had the capacity to form the specific intent to kill at My Lai.

The comments of Maj. Henry E. Edwards, chief of the consultation service of Walter Reed Hospital, Department of Psychiatry, directly contradicted that of two mental experts who testified in Calley's behalf.

The defense contends Calley was suffering from "combat stress" during a March 16, 1968 infantry sweep through My Lai, where he is accused of killing, or ordering his men to kill, 102 Vietnamese civilians.

Earlier the defense produced two psychiatrists who said Calley's mind was so impaired by the stresses of the operation that he was incapable of premeditating murder.

Edwards testified in rebuttal that he has treated at least 100 returned Vietnam veterans. He was one of three doctors who examined Calley in an Army sanity board hearing.

The report submitted by the board said that Calley was normal, mentally, in every respect.

Calley, 27, who commanded a platoon on the My Lai assault, has testified he was acting as a good officer in following the order of the company commander to "waste" the villagers who were impeding the progress of his men.

The company was to have swept quickly through the hamlet and attack hamlets beyond it.

Edwards said that in his opinion on the morning of the mission "Lt. Calley was free from any mental disease, defect, or derangement."

"There was nothing to indicate he was suffering from any form of mental illness or any form of mental impairment," he continued. "I could find no disorganization or confusion or disturbance in his behavior at all on March 16, 1968."

He said the three board members examined Calley one by one and jointly many times and also used his school records, Army efficiency reports, summaries of various investigations and examinations on him, and tape recordings of many of the 76 witnesses who have appeared in the 32 days of testimony prior to today.

He said Calley was not "disassociated in any way with reality." The defense psychiatrist has said he was.

"Did he have the capacity to premeditate an intent to kill?" asked Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, the prosecutor.

"In my opinion he did," Edwards replied.

He also said "there was no impairment of his thought processes on that date—at no time was he impaired in his mental functions."

On cross-examination, the doctor said he did not believe "fear from combat" could impair mental processes. "It alone would not," he added. "Fear itself does not do that—it might precipitate disorder in certain individuals."

It was brought out in questions by defense counsel George W. Latimer that the board's report, which is not being made public, had said Calley had "a strong need to be with people and be accepted by them" and that he had "an underlying sense of insecurity."

It also said the tests indicated he "tends to reason in a rather simplistic manner than subtle discriminations of meaning."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

English Doctors Discover Drug That Relieves Pain Of Shingles

A group of English physicians and virologists found that a 40 per cent solution of idoxuridine (IDU) in dimethyl sulfoxide (DMSO) was most helpful in the treatment of herpes zoster or shingles. Pain disappeared in about two days and healing was accelerated. The remedy was well tolerated by the 22 patients so treated.

A PIECE of soft material saturated with the solution was applied constantly to the involved area. It was rewetted daily and kept in place by gauze and a bandage. The experiment was subjected to a more scientific test and the group treated with 40 per cent IDU did much better than the two control groups. In those receiving DMSO only, pain lasted up to 65 days as compared with about 2 days in those given the IDU-DMSO solution. Pain disappeared in about 14.5 days in the second group given a saline and garlic solution.

The Britishers found that a 5 per cent IDU solution in DMSO was unsatisfactory when applied four times a day. Even continuous applications were not effective. Better results were obtained when a 40 per cent solution was used.

FOR REASONS unknown to me, our Food and Drug Administration has refused to approve DMSO. When applied to the skin, DMSO passes through the epidermis and is capable of carrying other chemicals along with it. In other words, it need not be taken orally or via injection. Repeated tests show that DMSO also relieves pain, relaxes muscles, and is anti-inflammatory.

In all probability, idoxuridine is the active ingredient in this combination as it has the ability to interfere with the multiplication of the viruses responsible for herpes zoster. IDU is FDA-approved only for ocular herpes which is frequently a disabling disease. Herpetic infections may cause an ulcer on the cornea which, on healing, leaves a scar that obstructs vision. DMSO brings IDU into contact with the viruses at the nerve endings — the seat of the trouble.

JOINT MICE

R. G. writes: I'm almost 60 and feel young except for mice in my knees. Half the time I can't walk because my knees catch and get sore. Is there any treatment that would help?

REPLY

If the little joint mice are causing trouble, surgery should be considered. These small pieces of cartilage that have broken off into the joint cause irritation and locking of the knee and are the only mice Ratikate won't destroy.

INFLAMED THYROID

R. T. writes: What is done for the thyroid condition that has an Oriental name?

REPLY

Hashimoto's thyroiditis is named for the physician who first described the condition. It is a rare type of inflammation of the thyroid. X-ray treatments often help but surgical removal of a large goiter may be indicated.

VIBRATOR BELTS

REPLY

Physicians do not have much faith in vibrator velts. Personally, I doubt that they do anything — good or bad — for the individual.

Tunnel To Freedom Is Found

BERLIN (UPI)—East German border guards discovered today a 393-foot long tunnel built under the wall between East and West Berlin, police reported.

The guards detected the tunnel build under the wall on the French sector's Bernauer Strasse only one day before 17 Eastern residents were to crawl through it to West Berlin, police said.

West Berlin police on border duty said they did not know a tunnel was being built until they observed feverish activity on the eastern side of the wall this morning.

They said border guards engaged in an obvious search called up excavators and instruments to locate tunnels.

Three West Berliners told West Berlin police 17 refugees had been scheduled to use the tunnel Friday. Police said the men were professional refugee helpers.

The tunnel was discovered as the East Germans announced an offer to open the wall over Easter for family reunions for the first time in five years if the West Berlin city government negotiates with it on the Berlin question and avoids "complications."

East German Premier Willi Stoph made the offer in a letter sent Wednesday to West Berlin Mayor Klaus Schuetz.

The text of the letter was released today by the East German news service ADN.

Schuetz consulted the Western allies, who have supreme authority here, on the proposal and announced he would fly to the West German capital of Bonn Friday to consult with Chancellor Willy Brandt.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Bagley's Bussing Repeal Plan Hit

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The author of California's antibusing law has charged a fellow Republican with trying to "embarrass" Gov. Ronald Reagan in moving to repeal the statute.

Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate, also accused Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, of employing "uncouth tactics" in his repeal efforts.

Wakefield last year authored the law preventing school districts from requiring a student to be transported for any purpose or reason without his parents' approval. Bagley introduced a bill Tuesday to repeal the law, contending it was "conceived in bigotry and borne in confusion."

Bagley noted that while the state supreme court upheld the statute's constitutionality, the court also declared it couldn't be employed to block efforts to racially integrate the classroom.

"I charge Mr. Bagley with his usual uncouth tactics," Wakefield said in a statement Wednesday. "His performance in the Legislature has been to embarrass the present administration on such issues as revenue and taxation, the California Rural Legal Assistance issue and now the parental consent law which was signed by the governor in September 1970."

Bagley was legislative manager last year of Reagan's unsuccessful tax reform program but has frequently split with the governor on issues such as vetoing a $1.8 million federal grant to CRLA.

Wakefield said Bagley should "listen to what the people of this state and national are saying."

CO-ED SCHOOL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Los Guilucos School for Girls near Santa Rosa is the second California Youth Authority institution to become a coeducational facility.

The Los Guilucos sex barrier was broken this week when three boys —two 10 and one 13 — were transferred from the Fricot Ranch School for Boys near San Andreas, CYA officials disclosed Wednesday. Fricot will be closed in June.

The CYA officials said 15 other boys would be taken from Fricot to Los Guilucos during the next few weeks. Eventually, they said, 37 older boys will be assigned there as part of a junior college program involving Santa Rosa College.

HOSPITAL CUTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post has recommended elimination of 15 top-level jobs in the State Mental Hospital System and use of the money saved to hire more personnel to work with retarded patients.

The fiscal adviser said Wednesday the associate medical director jobs at the 13 state hospitals should be abolished as well as one assistant superintendent for medi-surgical services at Sonoma and one assistant superintendent of psychiatric services at Napa. This, he added, would save $300,360 a year.

Post said his recommended program structure "enhances the delegation of program responsibility between the hospital director and his program chiefs."

BUG FUND

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative analyst A. Alan Post has called for a $500,000 cut in the $1.3 million Gov. Ronald Reagan proposes to spend on plant quarantine inspection at California's border "bug stations."

In his recommendations to the Legislature on Reagan's proposed 1971-72 budget, Post said Wednesday the reduction in funds would "substantially scale back" border inspections. But he noted the budget includes $1 million for emergency pest detection and eradication efforts throughout the state.

There never has been an acceptable basis to evaluate plant quarantine and border inspection benefits and costs," Post reported.

PUC PITCH

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The legislature should add $395,057 to the 1971-72 budget of the Public Utilities Commission to beef up its consumer protection activities, Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post has recommended.

Post Wednesday urged lawmakers to retain 13 of the 26 positions Gov. Ronald Reagan proposes to abolish and add 21 persons to the PUC's regulatory staff.

RETIREMENT

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation repealing the law enabling legislators to retire at full pension if the boundaries of their districts change in reapportionment was introduced Wednesday by Sen. Clark L. Bradley.

The San Jose Republican said the provision was adopted to compensate those lawmakers directly affected by the U.S. Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote edict which caused considerable shifting of districts.

"In the 1966-67 fiscal year, when the measure went into effect, the expenditures of the legislator's retirement system jumped from $56,000 to $348,000," Bradley said. He said 30 legislators were retired early that year—some by choice and some by defeat.

"In 1972, it has been reported that 83 of California's 120 solons will be eligible for immediate early retirement benefits if the law remains on the books," he said.

CYCLE PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state will begin Monday requiring that new motorcycles registered for the first time have their licenses renewed one year after the first registration, rather than by next February.

Department of Motor Vehicles Director Robert Cozens said Wednesday a system of year-round registration renewal is being tried on motorcycles, and if it works the Legislature might extend it to all vehicles, "ending the annual rush to beat the traditional February renewal deadline."

Motorcycles beginning March 1 will be issued two license plate stickers—one for the year 1972 and one for the month of registration. The owner will have to pay renewal fees during the anniversary month next year and each year thereafter.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Small Claims Court Informal

More and more people use the small claims court to settle small disputes. It offers a quick, inexpensive, informal procedure. For a $2 filing fee, a party has a court in which to resolve any dispute where the amount claimed does not exceed $300.

Recently, the Legislature made it easier to use this court. Now, with the court's permission, the parties may offer evidence by witnesses who are not at the hearing, but who come in and give testimony at different times.

Often witnesses, such as repairmen, experts, or out-of-towners cannot appear when the case comes up for hearing. Under the new law, witnesses may come to court at a later date, give their testimony, and leave.

It is still a good idea, however, for witnesses to appear at the hearing. The judge may not wish to put over a hearing, take testimony when the parties are absent, or break up the trial. The judge, therefore, may deny permission to offer testimony of witnesses at different times.

In a small claims case the judge may make any informal investigation he wants, in or out of court. He can check out facts by telephone or get reports or other facts out of the presence of the parties. For example, the judge may call the defendant's employer to find out how much he earns and then order the defendant to pay in installments to the plaintiff.

The court eliminated formalities of pleadings and of the rules of evidence. No lawyers can appear for either party, unless they are parties or witnesses. Nor can the plaintiff assign his claim to someone else who might present his claim better.

If the court rules against the plaintiff, he cannot appeal; but the losing defendant can appeal. If the defendant appeals, the higher court will hold a new ("de novo") hearing, from beginning to end. California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

49er Sues On Injury At Eatery

The real reason the San Francisco 49ers' almost triumphant season fell short last year may have been revealed in a suit filed today in Marin Superior Court.

A 270-pound 49er tackle says he suffered unknown injuries when a chair collapsed under him last March 1 at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon.

He blames the injuries allegedly suffered during his trip to the floor for the fact that he was one of the four best — and not one of the three best — defensive tackles in the nation.

That fact, he claims, is attested to by his selection to the second-string All-Conference Team and his failure to be selected to play in the Pro Bowl.

Because of his failure to make the Pro Bowl, the suit says, Kruger suffered financial loss.

Citizen Appeal On Motorcycles

Directors of the Alto-Sutton Manor District Association have appealed for help in their campaign to halt noise pollution and erosion caused by motorcyclists riding through the Alto Hills above Highway 101.

Publicity Chairman Sara S. Ruffner said the board last night voted to seek relief from the Marin County Board of Supervisors and sheriff's department and the California Highway Patrol.

The board also voted to petition the Mill Valley City Council for a stop sign at Shell Road and Lomita Drive near Edna Maguire School. Mrs. Ruffner said the association's first request four months ago has been ignored.

The group's next meeting will be March 17 at 8 p.m. at Mrs. Ruffner's home, 25 Lomita Drive.

PUC Attorney Suggests Cut In Telephone Rates

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to allow doctors and hospitals to provide birth control information to unmarried minor girls without parental consent was introduced Wednesday by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills.

A similar measure by Beilenson last year cleared the legislature but was vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan on grounds it would permit the girls to get sterilization operations. The bill this year is drafted to specifically preclude such an operation.

Marin's Share Of President's Revenue Plan

Marin County would get $1,642,176 and 10 cities in the county would receive an additional $745,128 out of President Richard M. Nixon's $5 billion revenue-sharing proposal for the upcoming fiscal year, it was disclosed yesterday in Washington.

Amounts slated for Southern Sonoma cities include Petaluma, $158,687, and Rohnert Park, $27,813.

If the bill passes, total no-strings revenue sharing for the cities in California would be $153,697,640. Another $163,168,744 would go to the counties and the state would receive $273,352,904.

Corte Madera, $58,861; Fairfax, $38,163; Larkspur, $54,980; Mill Valley, $84,518; Ross, $18,003; San Anselmo, $87,429; San Rafael, $292,687; Sausalito, $8,810; Novato, $79,687, and Tiburon, $22,100.

Balmer Stayed For Agenda

The Independent-Journal gave the impression in a story Tuesday on the Tiburon City Council meeting that new City Mgr. Bert Balmer left immediately after being introduced formally to the council and audience.

This was not the case. Balmer stayed for most of the council's agenda.

Latest In Operations On Beyer

Asst. Novato Fire Chief Richard W. Beyer, critically injured in a fire in Marinwood in July, 1968, is recuperating from the latest in a series of operations, Fire Chief Jack Kidder reported today.

Beyer had plastic surgery on the inner side of his right arm from elbow to wrist to aid movement in his hand, the chief told Novato Fire District commissioners last night.

In its business session, commissioners received a series of bids on equipment, including nozzles, fittings and hand tools, but didn't award any contracts pending study of the bids, Kidder said.

Commissioners scheduled a special session at 8 p.m. Wednesday to award bids, if the study is completed.

Boy, 17, Booked In Theft Of Car

A 17-year-old San Rafael boy was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall early yesterday after he allegedly stole a car from near the Forest Knolls Lodge.

Marin County sheriff's deputies said Kenneth Edward Gamble of 2105 Fifth Avenue was arrested near Nicasio Valley Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard shortly after taking the car of James Santos, a bartender at the lodge, at about 2 a.m.

Higher Limit On Cal-Vet Loans Advances

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation permitting the sale of $250 million in bonds to raise funds for the Cal-Vet farm and home loan program and increasing the maximum amount of the home loans to $25,000 was approved yesterday by the Assembly Government Administration Committee.

The bills by Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, were sent to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee on a voice vote.

The bond sale bill originally had allowed a $500 million issue. The committee reduced the amount to $250 million. If passed by both houses of the legislature, the bonds still must be approved by the voters.

Sonoman Joins Ecology Panel

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-North Hollywood, has named Santa Rosa attorney Barry Keene to the California Environmental Study Council.

The council is conducting a three-year study of pollution and conservation practices throughout the state. Most council members are appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan, but the Assembly speaker and Senate president pro tempore each have one appointee.

Keene, 32, is a member of the Sonoma County Organization on Planned Environment and Californians Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands (COAST.)

Gambling Hit

HONG KONG (UPI)—Police prosecuted 35,772 persons for gambling offenses in the first nine months of 1970, an increase of 5,481 over the corresponding period of last year. Only horseracing and mahjong, a Chinese table game, are legal in the colony.

JIM GILMARTIN

Marin Man Gets Giant Job Started

Allan Barrett Murray of Kentfield, the debonair bachelor who presides over the enormously successful San Francisco Giants Boosters Club of Northern California, is off and running again on one of his many globe-girdling jaunts.

Well, Phoenix is part of the globe, isn't it? — he took a tour to Japan last year — and is in Arizona at the moment arranging for the first of 10 tours he will conduct this year for baseball nuts who like to follow the Giants.

Just before he left, the 37-year-old insurance executive gave me his club's itinerary for the season, starting March 4-15 to Phoenix for spring training, another group to Phoenix March 14-24, and an extension-option to Phoenix March 24-April 1.

WORKING IN partnership with Paul Hartman at the GTS Travel Service in San Rafael, Murray also has worked out a schedule that will cart fans to San Diego-St. Louis for the National League openers, then to Montreal-New York in June with an extension to Philly on this trip, a weekender special to Los Angeles against the hated Dodgers in July, a St. Louis-Chicago swing in August and finally a Houston-Cincinnati trip in September.

Earlier I said Murray's club was enormously successful and to justify that statement he told me that his club was founded in 1968 with a handful of members and today the roster is close to 2,000 members.

WHAT'S THE secret to such a snowball? "Well," said Murray, a former Tamalpais High School, College of Marin and University of Oregon basketball star, "people are sick and tired of reading about all the violence in the world today. They want to get out to enjoy a good, clean sport, meet new friends, let their hair down and relax. That's our selling point.

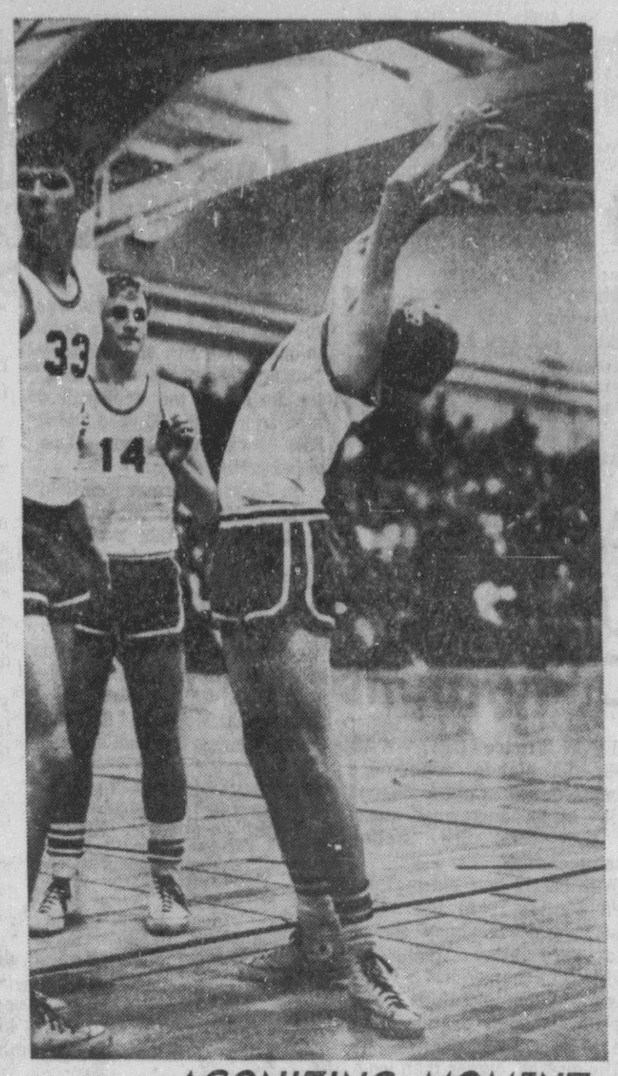
"Besides, we've come up with an economical package that a lot of people can afford."

Murray says about 150 Marin residents are members, adding: "We have men and women of all ages, from 6 to 96, and all walks of life — ranging from a Mission District bartender to corporation presidents. We even have a member named O'Shea who is a mortician on Jerusalem Street in the Bronx, New York. He always comes to spring training with us."

A PERPETUAL-MOTION machine, Murray also keeps his Boosters active in the winter with banquets that are always over-subscribed. "One time," he laughed, "we had so many members come to a banquet that we had to eat in two shifts — sort of a double header."

This year Murray and his brain-trust, Mr. Hartman of GTS, have started a Boosters Hall of Fame. First inductee, Murray said, will be Anne Kelley, the original Miss Booster. The current Miss Booster is airline stewardess Maureen Cassidy, a lovely dish if you ever saw one. Her job is to hostess the tours and she is simply magnificent and charming.

Russ Hodges of Mill Valley, the semi-retired "Voice of the Giants," had lunch with me and Murray the other day before Allan left for Phoenix. Said Hodges, as an Amen: "Al and Mr. Hartman have done a fantastic job generating enthusiasm among his Boosters; it's just what baseball needs and other big league clubs are beginning to follow his lead."



AGONIZING MOMENT IN CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Dave Tikker of Redwood High School could not believe it when he was called for a fourth quarter foul Tuesday night against Tamalpais High in the game that brought Redwood the Marin County Athletic League championship. At left, Tikker throws up his hands in despair, and the shock registers also on the faces of teammates Scott Trobbe (33) and Mik Connor. At right, Tikker acknowledges the foul as referee Wes Mathews walks by, and Connor consoles him. Redwood won, 40-38.

Marin Tars' Flag Hopes Die, 59-54

By DAVID EINSTEIN

The College of Marin Tars lost both the battle and the war last night as they were beaten by De Anza Junior College of Cupertino, 59-54 in Kentfield.

By virtue of the win, their 12th against a single loss and their second over Marin, the Dons claim the 1971 Camino Norte Conference basketball championship with one game left in the season.

The Tars, who were in contention at gametime, drop to third place with a 9-4 record behind Contra Costa of San Pablo. Overall they are 24-5.

Marin's downfall began with roughly five minutes left in the game, when coach John Panagakis ordered a stall to try to break De Anza's tight zone defense. The Tars led at that point by three, 50-47, and had in fact led from the opening minutes of the second half.

The stall backfired, as the Dons twice stole the ball and cashed in baskets to take a 51-50 lead. Then they began to stall, just to eat up the clock, and that worked. The flustered Tars committed five fouls in the last minute and 15 seconds, and the Dons responded by putting six charity points on the board to finance the win.

Those final minutes wiped out an otherwise fine performance by the Tars that included a valiant comeback in the latter stages of the first half. De Anza had taken a 32-21 lead on the accurate outside shooting of forward Rick Cook and center Mike Tarabanovic before Marin's defense finally stiffened. Then the Tars ran off 12 points to two for the visitors, and went to the locker room down by just two.

Joe Smith set the early pace for Marin with 10 first half points, and finished with 16 to lead the team. Next came center Roosevelt Green with 15, and he should be given a medal for courage. He came back to play the entire second half after dislocating his right shoulder with less than a minute to go in the first half. In fact, shooting with the bad arm, he canned all five free throws he tried, including Marin's last two points with 50 seconds left to play.

Tarabanovic led De Anza with 18 points, followed by Cook with 11 and David Blasquez with 10.

De Anza	34	25	— 59
Marin	32	22	— 54

De Anza — Tarabanovic, 7-4-18; Blasquez, 3-4-10; Cook, 5-1-11; Nebozuk, 3-3-9; Mulligan, 2-3-7; Myers, 0-2-2; Gouvela, 1-0-2; Totals — 21-17-59.

Marin — Smith, 8-0-16; Herrnberger, 2-3-7; Green, 4-7-15; Gommeringer, 1-0-2; Small, 0-5-5; Groshong, 2-2-6; Peden, 0-1-1; Flynn, 1-0-2; Totals — 18-18-54.

World Cup Slalom At Heavenly

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI)—A pair of French skiers chase after young Italian Gustavo Thoeni today in the men's slalom during World Cup competition at Heavenly Valley.

Thoeni is the World Cup leader with 140 points and could just about clinch the competition with a win down the 55-gate East Bowl course.

Challenging Thoeni are Patrick Russel and Henri Duvillard of France. They are tied for second in the men's slalom with 125 points apiece.

Approximately 120 of the world's best ski races are entered in today's competition. They will be put to a supreme test on the 1,500-foot long course that drops 500 vertical feet to the finish line near the Heavenly Valley parking lot.

All skiers will take two runs.

Tiny Barbara Cochran of Richmond, Vt., topped the world's best Wednesday in winning the women's slalom and moved into ninth place in the World Cup standings.

Ashe Has Pity For S. Africa

NEW YORK (UPI)—Arthur Ashe, banned from South Africa for the second time Wednesday, said in a prepared statement that he feels "pity" for South Africa.

While he refused to say whether he would apply again in the future, Ashe said, "maybe it's over for me but to South Africa, I say, there will be more after me and more after them."

In his prepared statement, Ashe said, "pity is a word one uses when one feels sorry for someone or something less fortunate than oneself. I pity South Africa in its use of apartheid because discrimination never has and never will permanently become the modus operandi anywhere in the world. Human beings will just not subjugate themselves to discrimination very long.

"I am a black tennis player and I fully recognize my unique position in the tennis world. I have twice utilized very legal and moral means of persuasion by my own personal efforts and those of the state department to gain admission. Maybe it's over for me but to South Africa, I say, there will be more after me and more after them.

"Frederick Douglass once said, 'power (which the white South African government totally possesses now) concedes nothing without a struggle. It never has and never will."

Williams Already Producing

OAKLAND (UPI) —Newcomer Tommy Williams started producing for the California Golden Seals only hours after he stepped off a plane from Minnesota.

On Tuesday he was traded by the North Stars to the Seals for Ted Hampson. Williams arrived in Oakland Wednesday, was handed a Seals uniform and promptly scored a goal and an assist in his West Coast debut against the Montreal Canadiens.

However, two goals and an assist in the first period by veteran center Jean Beliveau vaulted the Canadiens to a 5-2 win over the Seals. That closed out the season's series between the teams with Montreal holding a 5-1 margin.

Seals defenseman Carol Vadnais returned to action for the first time since Jan. 13 when he broke his left thumb. In the final minute he fell to the ice with an apparent knee injury after colliding with a player in the California goal.

Defenseman Bert Marshall collected the first California goal against the Canadiens in the second period when his shot from the blue line trickled into the nets after bouncing off goalie Rogatien Vachon's stick hand. Williams assisted on the score.

Other Montreal goals were scored by rookie Phil Roberto, Rejean Houle and Pete Mahovlich. Mahovlich's score went into an unguarded net with only 20 seconds remaining.

The Seals take on the Chicago Black Hawks on Friday night at the Coliseum-Arena.

PGA Depends On Palmer, Weather

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—The whole field had its eye on Arnold Palmer, and Palmer had his weather eye on the wind, today in the opening round of the 53rd PGA golf championship.

The big questions as a field of 146 began the 72-hole test over the 7,096-yard, par-72 PGA national club course was whether Palmer's first victory in 14 months last week means his return to rule all the pros — and how the gusting wind would affect the stars' play.

"I feel my game is reasonably good right now," said Palmer, who at 41 is making another bid for the only major championship that has escaped him during his illustrious career. That could be the best news for his fans in "Arnie's Army," and the worst for his foes.

Palmer, Florida resident Jack Nicklaus, defending champion Dave Stockton, and Tom Shaw, the only player to win two tournaments so far this year, were the chief pre-tournament favorites, plus Masters champion Billy Casper, U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin of England, and Texan Miller Barber, golf's "Mister X" who ranks second to Shaw in 1971 money winnings.

Palmer, who has finished second three times in the PGA, including last year, admits that he wants to win this one, "very badly." He declined to reveal his score in his final practice round Wednesday, saying he was "just horsing around, testing out the grain of the Bermuda greens to see how they affect the roll of the ball from different spots."

The 29-year-old Stockton, who said he is "tired and rundown," shot a one-over-par 35-38—73 in his windup and was a bit optimistic over his chances.

"I don't think I should be the favorite," he said. "But I'd be an idiot if I said I don't think I have a good chance to win.

"My short irons are not as good right now as they should be," Stockton said, "but on this course I don't think that's going to be important. The greens are big and, if you can keep your tee shot in the fairway, you should hit the greens with your second long iron. That means it all depends on how the putts are dropping, and putting is supposed to be one of the strong points of my game."

Stockton won the PGA last August at Tulsa, Okla., so, with the PGA moved up to February, is defending after only a six-month reign.

"I'm sort of a half-champion," grinned the Westlake, Calif., pro. "I went to the champions dinner the other night with all those famous fellows and I felt like a juvenile delinquent. I kept thinking somebody would throw me out."

The wind has concerned all the golfers in practice and Palmer turned forecaster.

"At this time of the year in Florida," he said, "the wind moves around the clock every few days. Thursday it should be from the southeast, but by Sunday it should be around in the northwest and fairly strong."

Stockton said hitters who keep their drives low, like Palmer, Lee Trevino, and himself "should be better off than the fellows who hit high in the wind."

Nicklaus, who never plays this course although he lives not far away because it's "too crowded," thinks strength will be a factor.

"The guy who wins will be somebody who can keep hitting long for four days in the wind," he said.

"They told me the wind was 18 miles per hour Wednesday," said Stockton. "My guess is it won't be much less than that any day."

Stockton forecast that the first-day leader "may have a 66 —because somebody is going to shoot a real good round," but he added, "I don't think the 72-hole scores are going to be low or that very many are going to be under par for 72."

Warriors Healthy And Happy

DETROIT (UPI) —Jeff Mullins is healthy, Nate Thurmond is hot and the San Francisco Warriors are happy.

Thurmond hit a career-high 43 points and Mullins successfully tested his injured ankle for the first time in a week Wednesday night as the Warriors nipped the Detroit Pistons 117-115.

To accomplish it, the Gold Shirts had to overcome a 10 point deficit in the last 6:30 en route to winning their second of three games on the latest road trip.

San Francisco was trailing 103-93 when they ignited their closing drive with eight straight points to cut the Piston margin to two points. The lead changed hands eight more times in the final 2:30 before Mullins clinched it by hitting a field goal and free throw.

The victory, coupled with losses by Los Angeles and San Diego, moved the second-place Warriors to within seven games of the pacesetting Lakers in the Pacific Division and widened San Francisco's bulge over San Diego to four games.

Pitchers Blast Fox; Mays Still Unsigned

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) —Gaylord Perry doesn't like the idea of allowing unsigned players to work out in uniform with the San Francisco Giants.

"Some guys might have signed for a little less than otherwise just to be ready for the start of spring training," said pitcher Perry, the club's player association representative. "Now these other fellows are working out and getting in shape while they're trying for more money."

Veteran pitcher Don McMahon also was surprised Wednesday by the decision of manager Charley Fox to allow unsigned players to resume spring training.

"I've never seen this before," said McMahon. "When I was with the Braves, I remember guys like Gene Conley and Bob Buhl coming to camp unsigned and being given such a bad time they went home."

Fox has reasoned the situation thusly: "They'll sign eventually, so why not get them in shape?"

Eight unsigned players are now working out in Casa Grande and a ninth one, Willie Mays, has promised to begin drills today after Fox contacted him on the telephone.

Among the players not yet officially in the fold but working out are catcher Dick Dietz, outfielder Bobby Bonds, pitchers Skip Pitlock and Ron Bryant and infielders Tito Fuentes and Steve Huntz.

Mays, who will be 40 in May, apparently is seeking a multi-year contract. He earned $125,000 last year when he batted .291 with 28 homers and 83 runs batted in.

Jackson Expects An Outstanding Spring

MESA, Ariz. (UPI) — Reggie Jackson has been playing baseball for 11 straight months and is still itching to grab a bat and throw a ball.

"I want to get to camp," said the star outfielder of the Oakland Athletics Wednesday from behind the desk of his land development office in nearby Tempe. "I could open up the season tomorrow.

Only problem is that Jackson hasn't yet signed a 1971 contract. But he has been talking regularly with owner Charles O. Finley on the telephone and figures they are near agreement.

"I think I'll sign in a week," said Jackson. "I expect to have an outstanding spring."

In addition to Jackson, the A's also were missing shortstop Bert Campaneris and pitcher Diego Segui, both of whom want fatter paychecks than Finley if offering.

New manager Dick Williams says Jackson will be his regular rightfielder against both lefthanders and righthanders. Jackson has just finished a highly successful winter baseball season in the Puerto Rican league.

Williams watched the entire team go through conditioning paces and special drills Wednesday. It was the first time the infielders and outfielders joined the workouts which will continue on a full-squad basis.

Also missing from camp with legitimate excuses are first baseman Don Mincher and relief pitcher Bob Locker. Locker was delayed because he was grounded by a blizzard in Omaha, Neb., while Mincher is winding up a series of dental appointments.

The Comeback Of Curt Flood

Curtis Charles Flood is employed by Baseball, which is more than he could say a year ago. At that time, he was at war with it.

Curt Flood's plaint is, he is enslaved by Baseball. Curt Flood is very sensitive on the point. He comes from people who know all about slavery.

At $110,000-a-year, many people would like to know where you go to sign up for this slavery. But it's not the principal of the thing that bothers Curt Flood; it's the interest.

CURT FLOOD has told his remarkable story in a soon-due Trident Press book called "The Way It Is." In some ways, it is a book which makes Jim Bouton's look like a bunt. The sex life of the journeyman ballplayer is examined in some detail, as well as the extraordinary story of Flood's friendship with an Oakland manufacturer and his wife, Johnny and Marian Jorgenson, and how Curt Flood was shadowed and wire-tapped by police for weeks when Mr. Jorgenson was found hacked to death at his place of business (a criminally insane black adolescent was eventually captured and sentenced for the crime).

The book in some parts is as sad as a suicide note. But in the main it sets forth Curt Flood's objection to baseball's auction block, a holdover from slave ship days which he found so impossible to live with, he left baseball for two years and sued to break its un-Constitutional "reserve" clause which makes a ballplayer a piece of property like a mule or a cow.

He lost the case in the lower courts and, faced with financial disaster, elected to return to the game this year through a unique contract with the Senators which was to have been the first one in history without the reserve clause.

BASEBALL BALKED at the last minute, holding it would not give up the reserve clause unless the Congress or the Supreme Court of the United States forced it to. So Flood will be playing center field this year with one eye on the nine in flannels and the other eye on the nine in the black robes down the street.

What started the Flood was his summary trade to the Philadedphia Phillies after 11 superlative years with the St. Louis Cardinals, years which included two world championships and one other National League pennant.

His point was simply that no man in this day and age ought to belong to a soulless corporation which could ship him around the country at will without his consent. Flood had built up a lucrative portrait business and had other interests in St. Louis which were not as readily transportable as his uniform and glove.

The structure of Baseball is as hard for modern man to imagine as Caligula's court. If a sub-executive of General Motors wishes to resist transfer to another city, no law prohibits him from getting his hat and crossing the street Ford for for a job. A baseball employee has no such right.

BASEBALL ARGUES that, without the reserve clause, every competent player in the country would rush to sign with the New York Yankees or their equivalent. The smaller, poorer franchises would degenerate into a foil for the bigger ones or disappear altogether, it is argued.

On the other hand, the reserve clause enables a marginal operator to stumble on, say, a Johnny Bench, because a scout gets lucky and, then, three years later, a franchise owner like Charlie Finley offers $2 million for the player.

What, pray, has the original franchise done to deserve $2 million? If Bench is worth $2 million, why shouldn't he get it instead of a bunch of shareholders? Or if he doesn't want to move to Oakland, why should he have to? If the reserve clause is indeed Flooded out, the game may get washed away, too, But, even if it isn't it would seem to behoove the game to shore up the levees and provide that 1) no player shall be traded to another city without his consent; and 2) no player shall be sold for cash without his participation.

If it's unwilling to do this, Baseball better get the Ark ready.

Dodger Enthusiasm Over Richie Allen

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI)— The first thing everyone visiting this camp wants to know is: How's Rich Allen?

"Great," says Walt Alston, his new manager with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"He's been absolutely beautiful," says Al Campanis, the club's Vice President. "Anything we've asked him to do, he's done. And more."

Managers and club Vice Presidents have been known to become enthusiastic about ballplayers before. Especially during spring training. But clubhouse men rarely do. They're the ones who have to take care of the players equipment and to them a ballplayer generally is just a ballplayer.

The Dodgers clubhouse men here are Nobe Kawano and Jim Muhe. Kawano felt Muhe should tell a visitor of a recent episode concerning Allen and urged him to do so. Muhe agreed.

"I've seen a lot of things written about him," Muhe said, "and the great majority of what has been written was one way. Nothing the other way. That's why I'd like people to know what Allen did when he came to Los Angeles a few weeks ago. Why didn't anybody write about that?"

About what?

"We put on this game every year," Muhe said. "It's strictly for charity. For the Southern California semi-pro medical fund. Whatever money is collected goes for kids who get hurt in semi-pro ball. There's no other fund for that purpose.

"Anyway," Muhe went on, "Some of the guys on our ball club like Singer, Crawford and Osteen were working out at the ballpark this particular day and I was telling em about this game. Allen happened to be in the clubhouse and heard me talking about it.

"What's it for? he asked. I told him, and said it would be great if he came out. I pointed out to him he didn't have to play but if he just showed up and took batting practice it would mean a lot. Would you come? I asked him. Hell, yes, he said.

"The game was played in Pasadena, at Brookside Park right near the Rose Bowl. Allen didn't even know how to get there. He had to follow Crawford on the freeway and it was about 20 miles. You should've seen him at the park. He was the most enthusiastic guy there. He took batting practice and then stuck around after the game signing autographs for all the kids. He was just perfect. That's what I mean. I never see stories about him like that in the paper."

Everyone in the entire Dodger organization is excited about Rich Allen's arrival. He senses that and it makes him feel good to be here.

"I enjoyed my year with St. Louis and I know I'm going to be happy in Los Angeles," he said. "I remember when I was in Philadelphia, the coaches would talk to the players in the clubhouse and say Philadelphia is no different than anywhere else. No matter where you go, no matter what city you play for, they're all the same. That isn't true at all."

Walt Alston isn't sure yet where he'll play Allen, at first base, third base or the outfield. But he's sure his new 28-year-old slugger will be in the lineup somewhere.

Meanwhile, Allen is enjoying his new surroundings. The only problem he seems to be having is cutting out cigarets.

"I'm trying to quit," he said, bumming one from Al Campanis at breakfast the other morning. "But it's just baked bread. Everytime I smell it, I reach for it."

Rich Allen smiled.

NBA ROUNDUP

Milwaukee Bucks Think They've Only Just Begun

The Bucks became the first club to clinch a National Basketball Association divisional title this season Wednesday night when they clobbered the San Diego Rockets 139-104 to win the Midwest championship.

"It feels terrific," said Coach Larry Costello. "It's good to win the division. It means we open the playoffs at home. But now we have to point for the playoffs. We have to get ready."

The Bucks moved out to a nine-point halftime lead and exploded for 77 points in the second half to turn the game into a rout. Bobby Dandridge had 33 points to lead the Bucks while Oscar Robertson had 26 and Lew Alcindor, playing only 31 minutes, had 20.

"We started running," said Costello of his team's second-half barrage. "That's what we have to do. We have to work on that for the playoffs."

In other NBA action Wednesday night, Atlanta ripped Portland 118-107, New York trounced Cincinnati 125-105, Boston stunned Los Angeles 116-96, San Francisco edged Detroit 117-115 and Seattle drubbed Cleveland 123-101.

There was little emotional outburst in the Milwaukee dressing room since the Bucks' title was almost a foregone conclusion. Milwaukee's record of 58-11 is by far the best in the NBA and the Bucks hold a 15-game edge over second place Chicago.

Pete Maravich scored 13 of his 28 points in the third period to spark a 31-19 burst that pushed the Hawks past Portland. Lou Hudson had 30 points for Atlanta while rookie Geoff Petrie had 25 and Jim Barnett 26 for the Trail Blazers.

Walt Frazier hit for 26 points and Bill Bradley added 24 as the Knicks rallied in the second half to storm past Cincinnati. The Knicks saw a 23-point first half lead dwindled to just one in the third quarter before Frazier and WillisReed clicked off six straight points. Bradley hit 10 points in the last period to stretch the Knicks' lead.

John Havlicek and Jo Jo White combined for 52 points as the Celtics beat Los Angeles to stop a three-game losing streak. Havlicek scored 28 points and White, who broke the game open with five long jump shots in the third quarter, added 24. Former Laker Henry Finkel had his best game of the year with 18 points and 11 rebounds.

Wilt Chamberlain had 27 points to lead the Lakers but high scorer Jerry West was held to just one field goal and 13 points.

Seattle scored 13 straight points midway through the first quarter and romped past Cleveland. Dick Snyder, who had 24, and Don Kojis, with 22, combined for 21 points in the first quarter to give the Sonics a 10-point lead. Bobby Smith's 19 points were high for the Cavaliers.

Basic Formula For Accuracy

NEW YORK (UPI) —Southern Illinois junior Greg Starrick has a basic formula for his free throw accuracy: start earlier and work longer than anyone else.

Starrick had a streak of 31 straight free throws entering Wednesday night's contest with Kentucky Wesleyan to give him 106 in 114 attempts. That pushed his percentage to .930, compared to the major-college season record of .933 set by Arkansas' Tommy Boyer in 1962.

Lotte Orions Arrive At Giants' Camp

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) —Sixty-two members of the Lotte Orions of Tokyo baseball team entourage are in camp with the San Francisco Giants today.

The group includes 38 baseball players and a dozen sports scribes and arrived Wednesday to play 26 exhibition games on the spring circuit, including four against the Giants.

America's Uncrowned Champions

With her 19-year old partner, Ken Shelley from the same town, Jo Jo Starbuck skated into third place Wednesday night in the World Pairs Skating Championships and roaring, standing ovation from the 10,000 capacity crowd.

The ovation, bigger than even for the faultless skating that kept the world crown for Russians Irina Rodnina and Sergei Ulanov, turned to a storm of booing when the fans considered the judges marked the Americans too low.

It was enough, however, to achieve one U.S. ambition. By finishing behind the No. 2 Russian couple, Ludmilla Smirnova and Andrei Suraikin, who started the final program ahead on points of Rodnina-Ulanov, they broke a two year East European grip on the event.

As well as the best American result of the championships to date, it was the first American placing in the first three of the pairs since Cynthia and Ronald Kaufmann finished third at Geneva in 1968.

"This is the first time we've cracked the East European domination of the pairs for the last two or three years and we feel very, very happy" U.S. team leader Chuck Demore of Cleveland said. "We hope to do better next year."

After the event, Jo Jo, still dressed in her wine-colored skating costume and clutching a victory bouquet, added: "We hope to improve ourselves next year, but the Olympics is our big goal right now."

Thursday's seventh and the final of the men's individual has reigning European Champion Ondrej Nepela of Czechoslovakia a slight favorite to overcome the challenge of French Champion Patrick Pera in the freeskating program.

Trials To Begin At Ontaio

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI)— Qualifying trials begin today at the $30 million Ontario Motor Speedway for Sunday's running of the Miller High Life-sponsored 500-mile stock car race.

Twenty drivers will vie for the pole position in a race that will inaugurate the rectangular speedway to the high-powered stocks.

Co-favorites A. J. Foyt and Richard Petty may be among the losers for the coveted pole position, it was learned Wednesday. In choosing numbers for qualifying runs, Foyt drew number 60 while Petty picked number 50. The first 20 drivers, if they can get their machines past the technical inspection, will be the only ones trying for the pole today.

But if it means anything, Petty, of Randleman, N. C., and Foyt, a product of Houston, Tex., may have that extra edge in racetrack savvy that will even things up. Petty has already run more than 300 miles on the Ontario track during tire tests. Foyt has also had a good number of turns on the track.

Most of the other drivers have never even laid eyes on the speedway. Unlike Daytona, where the turns are backed at steep angles, and allowing higher speeds, Ontario, according to Petty, is more of a driver's track. It's practically flat.

Trainer Sets Record At G.G. Fields

Gibson climaxed the afternoon when Damage Control came from off the pace to dash by Northern Rebel and Swift Foot to win the $8,000 Children's Hospital Medical Center race by one length. Damage Control paid $6 while covering the six furlongs in 1.08 4-5. with veteran Mel Lewis in the irons.

Gibson also trained the victorious Tricky Fox in the second race, Flouroscope in the third, Hy Jan in the fifth and Carla C. in the sixth.

The feat by Gibson matched a similar performance by the late trainer Allen Drumheller Sr. at Hollywood Park in the early 1950s. Gibson performance was the best ever by a trainer at Golden Gate Fields.

Greek Son ($136) and Tricky Fox ($52.80) combined in the first two races to produce a $2,441 daily double for 27 lucky ticket holders.

GOLF NOTES

2 Women Knock In First Aces

Las Gallinas Golf Course was the site last Monday of a hole-in-one fired by Mrs. Oakley Dexter of Greenbrae. Mrs. Dexter fashioned the ace with a nine iron on the 65-yard, third hole. It was the first hole-in-one of her golfing career.

On Tuesday, former Kentfield resident Mrs. Don Wilson, now of Sacramento, shot a hole-in-one during a guest day tournament at the Presidio course in San Francisco. She used a five iron to get the ace on the 152-yard sixth hole. It was her first hole-in-one in 35 years of golfing.

A New Nickname For Tito Fuentes

CASA GRANDE — Tito Fuentes' Giant teammates have bestowed a new nickname on the uninhibited, self-admitted showboat.

"Kayo," one teammate after another greeted Tito when he checked in for 1971 spring training. Tito smiled.

"Did it take one or two punches?" somebody shouted and Tito beamed as he held up his right hand with index finger extended to indicate he needed only one punch to deck an umpire in the Dominican Republic during the winter.

It was a costly punch for Fuentes. He was suspended for the rest of the winter season in the Caribbean.

Was that why he now was bargaining hard with the Giants on his 1971 contract?

"I have to make it up some way," he said, "but I won't be too hard on the Giants. They have been good to me."

A CAREFREE soul, Fuentes didn't fret long about his suspension and he isn't worried now about being successful in his contract negotiations with the Giants. "Everything will work out okay," he said.

Fuentes keeps his teammates loose with a lot of laughs. Last spring, explaining why he missed opening roll call, Tito said he had "maid trouble" with U.S. customs officials upon arrival in the states from the Dominican Republic. Maid trouble?

"Yes," said Tito, "my wife. She is maid, dish washer, baby sitter, everything in the family. She forgot her papers."

This spring Tito reported on time. There was no maid trouble. But did he have any other trouble, excluding his one-punch affair with the umpire? "None," said Tito, "it was very peaceful."

Fuentes doesn't mind being called a "hot dog." In fact, he readily acknowledges that was his nickname before he got the new one.

"When I was growing up in Cuba, they used to call me that and other things," he said. "I didn't mind. I wanted to be different, not like everybody else."

FUENTES NEVER returned to Cuba after Castro took over but he still occasionally forgets he no longer lives there and sometimes signs autographs "Tito Fuentes 2B Cuba." Second base still is his best position.

Fuentes loves to dress in styles that are eye-catching such as the white linen see-through suit he sported several seasons ago when he carried a white pipe he never smoked and a furled umbrella he never opened.

"No surprises," said Tito, "but look at my haircut. See, nice and short. Everybody today, boys and girls, have long hair. Not Tito. I like to be different."

THE SKI SCENE

Great Time In Sun? Try Spring Skiing

By CHARLIE COANE

A non-skier forms a mental image of the world of skiing: pile into a vehicle, drive for hours; expensive gear; take a chance on breaking a few bones sliding down a hill and almost freezing to death!

Basically, he may be right. But as the weeks go by the last point loses its impact. Spring skiing doesn't necessarily refer to a time of year, but rather to a particular type of skiing.

SPRING SKIING began this season in the Sierra in late January as the temperatures rose and the snowfall stopped. This type of skiing won't last through the remainder of the season, but eventually most areas will report "spring skiing conditions."

Then there are those who refuse to recognize spring skiing as the true sport — and everyone to their own way of thinking. But in California, if you refuse to recognize the warm weather skiing, you're probably going to blow half the season.

SNOW CONDITIONS are characterized by corn snow formed by warm, sunny days followed by freezing nights. The snow looks like tiny round pieces of ice and is quite skiable. Hardly anyone will argue that spring snow is better than fresh dry powder, but the weather can be the equalizer.

As a matter of fact, topless skiers (men, of course) and bikinied skiers (girls, of course) are not unusual sights. Picnics on the slopes, wild garb, basking in the sun, convertibles etc. are part of the spring skiing scene.

To get the most out of the snow conditions, the trick is to be in the right place at the right time — and the sun is the key. As the lifts first open, the best snow will be on those runs that are directly into the sun. Soon, however, those runs will become too soft and slushy and it's time to follow the sun as it softens other areas. Shady areas will be very hard packed or even icy. If you like that, fine. Most skiers do not.

THE WARM RAYS of the sun in the mountains will be more intense than those at the beach. Sun glasses are essential to protect your eyes from harmful rays. Sun lotion and some sort of protection for your lips and nose are also "musts," and a moisturizer should be used after skiing.

Illinois Football's 'Nightclub' Look

CHICAGO (UPI)—New Football Coach Bob Blackman revealed Tuesday that Illinois will spend half a million dollars to revamp its football training table quarters, locker room and coaches' offices.

Blackman said the training table quarters would resemble "a night club."

The new locker room will be completely carpeted and equipped with stereo, a communications system, a sauna bath, more complete training facilities, private conference rooms and more and larger meeting rooms.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Crowell Collier Is Set For Recovery

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I own 300 Crowell-Collier & Macmillan, Inc. Preferred. Do you think it will ever get back up to former highs? S.P.

A. Last year was a discouraging one for this publishing company but there are several factors helping recovery this year. A probable increase in federal aid to education as well as higher state and local spending should help boost textbook sales. This segment, which contributes about 17 per cent of Crowell-Collier's sales, was soft in 1970.

Foreign markets are growing rapidly and last year were estimated to have accounted for about 15 per cent of CCM's sales and perhaps as much as 25 per cent of earnings. These convertible preferred shares should be held for generous yield and gradual recovery.

Q. I purchased Northern Natural Gas 8½s of 1974 assuming these were bonds. When the certificates arrived I discovered I had bought debentures, which are nothing but promissory notes. I cannot afford to speculate, is this investment safe? P.M.

A. You are correct, these debentures represent no lien on corporate property. However, under terms of indenture, each issue would be secured equally and ratably should any company or subsidiary property be mortgaged or pledged. Your debenture carries an A rating and interest is amply covered by earnings, 2.4x on June 30, 1970. You can relax — your short term debentures have a good margin of safety.

SST Opponents Are Criticized

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — The president of the Aerospace Industries Association has accused opponents of the SST of doing the nation a serious disservice by misleading the public "with a barrage of ecological and economic nonsense" about the controversial plane.

Karl G. Harr Jr., head of the association which represents manufacturers of America's airplanes, spacecraft, missiles and related parts, said opponents have not made a single objection that has not been answered or could not be by flying two proposed prototypes.

"When responsible experts try to explain the true nature of the SST, their militant opponents say, in effect, our minds are made up, don't confuse us with the facts."

EUGENE W. McGEORGE
Selected

McGeorge Is Named Regent

Eugene W. McGeorge of Mill Valley, a Standard Oil Co. official, has been named to the University of Pacific Board of Regents.

McGeorge, of 21 Glen Drive, formerly served for 20 years as a trustee and vice president of the McGeorge School of Law in Sacramento — a school founded by his father. The law school was merged with the University of Pacific in 1966.

McGeorge graduated from Stanford University and has worked for Standard Oil for 39 years. He is currently a senior staff analyst in the marketing division of Standard Oil in San Francisco.

McGeorge has served as chairman of the Mill Valley School District board and is a trustee of the Mill Valley Public Library.

Ordinance On Signs To Tighten

Larkspur merchants can expect tighter enforcement of the city's sign ordinance beginning next month, the city planning commission was told last night.

The commission, annoyed by the increasing number of paper signs placed on supermarket windows, asked its staff to investigate and was told the staff already has.

According to John W. Appleton, city planning director, the building department next month will start a citywide inventory of signs to determine the legal status of each.

Those found to be conforming will have a numbered tag attached while those found nonconforming will be ordered removed or approved through city variance procedures.

The Larkspur Planning Commission also:

STUDY ZONE — Extended for six months the study zone designation for the area east of Highway 101 being considered as a possible Central Marin ferry terminal site.

HEARING — Set March 9 for a public hearing on requiring certain uses permitted under commercial zoning to also have a use permit requirement.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to March 9.

Continued Study On Police Area Asked

The Marinwood Community Services District board, concerned over polarization between cities and unincorporated areas as a result of defeat of the proposed police services district, has suggested continued joint study.

In a resolution passed Tuesday, the district board called for a meeting of city and community district representatives to "explore possible solutions to the problem of distribution of costs for police services in the unincorporated area."

According to Genevieve T. Bolding, district secretary, "bitter feelings" were expressed by some city councilmen Tuesday after the county supervisors scrapped the proposal.

Marin cities had suggested the county form such a district to eliminate what they consider double taxation for police services.

The Marinwood Community Services District board also:

FIRE BUDGET — Accepted a preliminary fire budget totaling $97,725 for fiscal 1971-72. According to Mrs. Bolding, the budget represents an increase of $12,395 over this year's but with increases in assessed valuation, the tax rate of 61 cents per $100 assessed valuation probably will remain unchanged.

SWIMMING POOL — Set March 13 for opening of the community swimming pool season rates for residents will be $40 and nonresidents, $105.

EMPLOYMENT — Approved employment of 14 persons for part-time jobs as swimming instructors and lifeguards.

Plea Date Set

Eugene Andrew Boehm, 26, of Sonoma, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of burglarizing a Fairfax residence last Friday. He is to plead to the charge March 9.
